WALTON MAY PUT VETO CLUB OVER HEADS OF SOLONS

Failure to Pass Measures of Administration Platform May Intur Wrath

ANTIS WIN FIGHT

Institution Bills May Bear Brunt of Executive Wrath of Solons Fight

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—Rumors spreading through the house today that Governor Walton was ready to use his veto power to obtain the passage of administration "program" brought to an issue the final question of the proceedings to be followed by the legislature between now and the final adjournment.

The problem which confronts the legislators when they reconvene Monday is whether to pass the regular supply bills for the biennium and adjourn sine die or whether to hold up final action upon the departmental and general bills and give right of way to the measures sponsored by the administration.

The regular appropriation bills were recently forced to the front in the house by the Stovall-Disney group, displacing the pet bills of the administration.

When it was shown that appropriations in bills for the upkeep of the state and its institutions had reached a total exceeding the estimated revenue for the next two years opponents of the administration program figured that this situation would preclude the possibility of passing such measures as the cement plant bill, the home ownership bill, the warehouse bill and similar proposals, all of which call for large sums.

Walton May Force Hand.—However, word went out today whether official or not that the governor would step in and demand enactment of the entire program or failing in that would force all cards on the table by putting each member on record as either for or against each proposal.

It was rumored even that Governor Walton might veto the entire institutional bill should his program fail to command consideration. It was agreed however that the veto power more probably would be confined to specific institutions if used at all.

The report that the entire institutional bill might be killed by veto was branded as absolutely false at the governor's office. It was said that the governor might veto some sections of the bill but that this was not certain.

Administration Has Hard Row.—The administration, it is admitted, has had hard sledding in both branches of the legislature to date. The market commission bill, an administration measure, won its way through the house but was rewritten in the senate committee to eliminate almost entirely the features demanded by the committee of 21.

The $2,250,000 free text book bill also passed the house has failed to receive any consideration to date in the upper chamber and house and senate conferences are still at odds over the supreme court commission bill.

On the other hand the Cordell warehouse bill carrying $1,250,000 passed the senate but obtained special order status in the house only as a rider to the Disney money bill that its substitute bill be given a privileged position for Wednesday. Coming first and carrying an appropriation of $15,000 the Disney bill has a clear advantage over the bill written by the committee of 21.

The opposition in the house has succeeded in keeping back such measures as the full-crew bill and finally gained enough strength yesterday to unhorse the powerful steering committee which has been given charge of the calendar.

Economy Group Set Back.

A setback was given the group which has been demanding economy when the house today voted down a resolution by W. E. Gibson expressing the sense of the house that appropriations be prorated to keep the total down to $25,500,000. The power of governor to make appropriations for institutions is a threat which must be considered by all those inclined to fight the administration program. Whether or not Governor Walton intends to or would swing the veto club on the heads of recalcitrant members the possibility is ever present and furnished cause for the solons to reflect.

Bills passed by the legislature need not be signed by the executive until after the legislators leave Oklahoma City so if Walton holds the institutional bill for his approved after adjournment there (Continued on Page Five)

Rumors Search out Petting Parties

Is there an organization of men or women here intent on breaking up petting parties on the roads near Ada? That is a question a reporter has heard asked many times on the streets in the last few weeks. All attempts to get more than rumors proved fruitless. No victims of any of the organizations nightly pilgrimages would admit they were victims have been found.

As rumor has it, not many nights ago this band of mysterious personages were looking over the roads east of the city. Not far on the Colbert road a car was found parked. The curtains were up and apparently the car was unoccupied. Close observation, however, revealed the presence of a couple of petters in the rear seat. As the story goes, the male of the species in double quick time had the car engine under way and the car headed towards the bright lights of North Mississippi.

On or about the same night near the Homer schoolhouse two more members of the genus homo of opposite sexes were adepts in making their car "get off the pike."

One male with whom rumor connects one or more petting parties confidentially says the petters and pettees have had to resort to other ways of avoiding the eyes of spying humanity than stopping along the highways. Just what other ways are being used, he steadfastly refused to say, signifying with a flash of the eye that it is some way.

Every effort to learn who the vigilantes are was fruitless. Some of the rumors say they are men and other say they are women. One story is to the effect that some married women, believing their husbands are straying from the straight and narrow way, have taken this means of running the prodigals home. Another story, equally as often heard, is that the organization is composed of men who have more or less the same thoughts about their wives. Believe as you like. These are the rumors.

HIRAM JOHNSON ON FIRST SPREE

Senator Leaves New York On First Trip Across Atlantic

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California today brushed politics and potential presidencies out of his way and started on his first voyage across the Atlantic.

Accompanying Senator Johnson were Mrs. Johnson and their son Hiram W. Jr., and right across from them on the steamship George Washington was Alexander P. Moore of Pittsburg, newly appointed ambassador to Spain.

"I hope I don't get seasick," said the senator, eyeing the fruits and sculling the flowers which filled his suit. "I'm a landlubber. I have never been to sea before."

Then Ambassador Moore assured him that he had voyaged on the George Washington before and that she rode smoothly. Senator Johnson said he did not know where he would go.

"I have not had a rest for twenty years and I think it is time. I had a little enjoyment. I'm 56 years old and don't feel so b.d."

McKeever Declares Brooklyn Nationals Not for Purchase

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—The Brooklyn National league club is not for sale, Stephen McKeever, part owner, declared today in a statement in which he also denied the existence of several offers reported to have been made for the Dodgers within the past few days. "So much has been published lately about alleged offers to purchase the Brooklyn national league baseball club," Mr. McKeever stated, "that we wish to state that the club is not for sale. We know nothing about these alleged offers and were" they in fact made they would be refused. We have never considered the sale nor is it our desire to sell."

Foster on Trial For Violation of Laws of Michigan

(By the Associated Press)
ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 10.—William Z. Foster, alleged leader of the communist party and underground representative in America of the Third Internationale of Moscow, will go on trial in circuit court here Monday charged with violation of the Michigan laws against criminal syndicalism.

Judge Charles White today overruled a motion for a change of venue made by Frank P. Walsh of New York, attorney for the defense of Foster and others arrested after Michigan and federal authorities raided an alleged convention of the communist party held in the lonely sand dune country twenty miles south of St. Joseph, last August. Twenty-two persons have been awaiting trial as a result of the raid but the state elected to try Foster first.

Negro Desperado Sought by Posse Killed in Chase

(By the Associated Press)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 10.—Lewis Douglas, negro desperado who shot and seriously wounded five persons who were attending a death watch at Spencer Thursday morning, was shot to death at the home of a tenant on the property of Sam Haston, one of the victims, by armed deputies late today.

The negro's death ended a two-day chase with bloodhounds which wound up within a hundred yards of the place where he attempted to wipe out an entire family because he had been caught stealing from a corn crib.

POINCARÉ MEETS WITH PREMIER OF BELGIUM

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS, March 10.—Premier Poincare plans to leave for Brussels Monday morning for a conference with Premier Theunis of Belgium.

The principal object of the premier's interview is to settle questions of technical character regarding operation in occupied Germany but they will also give attention to the political aspects of the situation and the event of negotiations with Germany.

The premiers will confer regarding the organization of the expected conference with German with special reference to the projected demand from Berlin that the German delegates be admitted to the meeting on equal footing with the allies and that all allies be represented.

Premier Poincare is said by those close to him to be determined to defeat any scheme of Germany to play on the difference in views between France and Great Britain.

POLICE LOOK FOR ILLINOIS PRIEST

Authorities Believe Rector Met Foul Play While In St. Louis

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, March 10.—Police today announced that they have been conducting a search since Thursday for Reverend Father John A. Vranick, 28 years old, rector of Sacred Heart Catholic church at Virden, Illinois, who was last seen in St. Louis Monday afternoon, but that they had discovered only one clue—the finding of the automobile in which the priest had driven the 85 miles to St. Louis.

The automobile was found abandoned last Tuesday in a business district on the lower Mississippi front late yesterday. The police ascertained definitely that it was the priest's.

Father Vranick came to St. Louis, it was learned, to make purchases for a church bazar and arrived with a message to the Reverend Father W. L. Linek, rector of the Holy Trinity Slovak Catholic church here for a meeting to be held at his own church next week. He visited father Linek's rectory last Monday but as the latter was away he left the message. He then made purchases at several local mercantile establishments.

Police stated that several residents of Virden came here several days ago and made inquiries about the priest's whereabouts, saying that he had not returned to Virden although his mother expected him last Monday night.

Police express the theory that Father Vranick may have met with foul play in Illinois and that the automobile was driven back into the Missouri side of the river to obscure possible clues. Another theory is that he may have taken ill and gone to a hospital. All local hospitals are being canvassed by the police.

Pontotoc County Boys to Compete In Stock Judging

Pontotoc county will be represented in the stock judging department of the Southwest Stock Show at Oklahoma City, when Curtis Floyd takes five youngsters from Latta school for the contests. The following boys made the trip: John Kerr, Robert Erwin, Shockley, Dale Fischback and Cameron Hill.

COMPRESS TO BE BUILT HERE SOON

Arrangements Completed for Construction of Modern Plant at Ada

A compress for Ada this fall is assured, according to an announcement of J. H. Bellis, president, and A. D. Stubblefield, secretary of the Peoples Compress Company of Cushing. One will move here to take care of the local plant.

Mr. Bellis announces that his company will erect a modern press and have enough shed room to take care of every bale of cotton coming to the compress. Construction work is to begin within the next two or three weeks.

The plant, according to present arrangements, will be erected on the industrial site owned by the Chamber of Commerce. President C. E. Cunningham of the Chamber went over the ground with Messrs. Bellis and Stubblefield late Friday evening, and they expressed themselves as being highly pleased with it.

This site is served by a joint track of all three railroads, and there is no shipping charge in taking cars from one road to another. While this will be a bit further from the city than the old compress, it is nearer than the press at many other places, it is explained.

All of the cotton shippers and practically all of the cotton buyers have signed an agreement to patronize the new compress. This will mean the compress will have plenty of cotton to run the season on. The contract holds good for at least two years.

The cotton men of this section are rejoicing over the successful landing of a compress and say it will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to the city.

College Musicians Return After Tour Over this District

The East Central College band returned Saturday from a two weeks tour of the district, being enthusiastically received at every place. Not only the band itself proved popular, but the solos and the selections by the brass quartet, the male quartet and the sextet were well received, according to Ralph Warner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was with the band boys part of the trip.

The band will give a home coming concert at College auditorium Tuesday evening. Forecasts are that this will be one of the most enjoyable entertainments in the history of the school. The boys are anxious to see if their efforts at home are appreciated as much as they are away from home.

Legionnaires Hail For Stage Career In Play This Week

The three-act play, "The girl from out yonder," will be presented at the McSwain theatre next Thursday by the Norman Howard post, American Legion.

All preliminary plans have been completed and patrons are assured of the usual exactness of detail characteristic of other Legion plays presented here.

Special scenes have been ordered from Oklahoma City, as well as costumes and wigs.

The play will be presented under the direction of Fred Schreiber, who is backed by sixteen years of stage experience.

Schnapps Snappy orchestra will render the music.

Hines Adopts Policy

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Brigadier general Frank T. Hines, new director of the veterans' bureau, said today that his policy for the operations of the bureau will be based on elimination of "red tape" in handling the veterans claim, "hard boiled methods" in treatment of veterans and speeding up of hospital work so as to give immediate relief where needed.

DECISION MADE ON LEGISLATIVE DAY AFTER ROW

Tangle Over Session of Legislature Causes Much Argument.

ELAM LAUDS WALTON

Stovall Warns Legislature to Draw Line Now on Expenditures.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—A "legislative day" is a day when both houses of the legislature are in session where a $6 a day pay is concerned but laws can't be made in a day on which either house is in session.

This in substance was ruled by the chairman of the house today. John F. Garner of Johnson county questioned the legality of bills passed today with the senate not in session, since the house adjourned yesterday having construed a "legislative day" to mean a day on which both houses meet.

The chair, however, decided that any action of the house on a day when the senate was taking a rest would be legal.

To allow legislators to draw regularly their $6 a day pay after the expiration of the regular 60-day term it was decided yesterday that a "legislative day" was a day in which both the senate and house held session.

A resolution to limit appropriations for the session to $25,500,000 was voted down by the house.

Debate on the resolution covered a wide range. J. B. Phillips of Cleveland threw a challenge to the 2621 minute men and Richard Elam of Pawhuska lauded Governor Walton as the "greatest governor Oklahoma has ever had."

"Never has a governor so grown into the hearts of the people as has our present governor," declared Elam. "He is the head of the party and our governor and we should stand with him. I say, we must listen more to what he wants and I for one am going down the line with him."

D. A. Stovall of Choctaw warned that it was time to begin to draw a line on expenditures.

FRED DENNIS WANTED FOR ANOTHER CHARGE

(By the Associated Press)
STILLWATER, Okla., March 10.—Warrants for the arrest of Fred Dennis, missing former state banking commissioner, L. Martin, former president of the defunct Yale state bank, and J. C. Galloway, Oklahoma City oil man, were issued today by county judge Brown Moore at the request of the county attorney.

The three men are charged with having willfully misappropriated and abstracted $22,500 from the Yale bank with intent to defraud.

The warrants were placed in the hands of the sheriff.

It is alleged that Galloway signed a note for $22,500 which was paid by Martin and held in the Yale bank. Martin received $1000 for the deal, the information charges. The remainder of the money went to Fred Dennis, the county attorney charged.

The Yale state bank closed in August, 1921.

British War Debt Considered Again By U. S. Commission

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—The American debt funding commission considered today foreign debt questions today, negotiating a tentative program for the refunding of the debt of Finland to the United States and putting recent negotiations agreement with Great Britain in final stages of preparation to going into operation.

Patriarch of Congress Now In Retirement

(By the Associated Press)
DANVILLE, Ill., March 10.—Uncle Joe Cannon, patriarch of congress, was under his own roof tree here today resting since his definite retirement from public service since he went to Washington during the administration President Grant.

Only casual nods met the veteran statesman, tired and pale, walking slowly on the arm of a friend, although none the less jauntily, for all his years, on leaving the train which brought him from Chicago on the second lap of his journey home. In deference to Uncle Joe's wishes Danville did not turn out with bands and decorated automobiles to welcome him, but just as soon as he is rested citizens will follow out their plans to blow the lid off the town to show him what the home folks think of him.

On his triumphant retirement the aged legislator did not have time for sentimentality, but kept the party merry with quips and stories.

GAS FUMES END ADA GIRL'S LIFE

Ila Mae Smith Asphyxiated By Gas Fumes in Family Bathroom.

Ila Mae Smith was asphyxiated by gas fumes from a heater in the bathroom of the family home Saturday morning. According to the family she went to take a bath about nine o'clock. Some minutes afterward her mother became concerned at not hearing any sound from the bathroom and called to her daughter. Receiving no reply she gave the alarm and the door was broken in. The body of the young girl was in the tub and from strong fumes of gas escaping from the stove told the tragic story of her death.

It was apparent that she had been overcome and had sunk unconscious into the water. Physicians were hastily summoned and a lungmover used for some time in an effort to restore respiration but to no avail.

Ila Mae was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, 609 West Fifth street. She was born in Ada in June 1909 and had spent her entire life here.

The funeral arrangements had not been fully completed Saturday evening, but it was stated that the services would be held sometime Monday afternoon. Interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Farmers Assured of Aid of Government In Farm Crediting

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—The federal farm loan board at the conclusion today of a three day conference with the federal bank presidents, gave assurance that the farmers of the country will have the benefit of the government's financial aid authorized in the recent enactment of the rural credits legislation by the time the spring planting begins. While it is apparent that all the new credits machinery can be in operation at the time indicated it was declared that the government had financed intermediate credits banks so as to be ready to receive applications for and to make loans in about two weeks.

"Paul Popp is a friend of mine," Lewis stated, "and last spring he opened a charge account with this bank. From time to time he made additional deposits and there was always a sufficient amount in deposit to cover checks drawn against the account. There is still a balance on hand and nothing irregular whatever."

Mr. Lewis said that Paul Popp stopped over in St. Louis last Thursday en route to Chicago from California, but that they merely discussed general business conditions.

Italian Brothers Missing When Bank Shows Big Deficit

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—The three brothers Tisho, who conducted a bank and steamship ticket agent company on Mott street in the heart of New York's "little Italy," disappeared mysteriously today. Immediately the crowd of depositors gathered demanding their savings which were reported to total $500,000 to $2,000,000.

The police took charge of the bank and its affairs pending the result of their search for the missing brothers. After a search of apartments over the bank which were occupied by the brothers, officers reported that clothing was gone and that photographs had been removed from their frames.

A cursory inquiry by the police indicated that the bank depositors numbered about 40,000.

EXAMINERS PLAN BANK REOPENING OF DEATH BANK

Institution to be Reorganized After Killing of President

TO PROBE DEATH

Chicago Bank to Have Been Reinforced by Loans of Other Banks.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 10.—State bank examiners today planned the reorganization of the Logan Square trust and savings bank to permit it to reopen Monday after being closed today following the finding yesterday of the body of Fred W. Popp, president of the institution, in his automobile on the outskirts of Chicago with a bullet through his head.

A coroner's jury continued its inquiry into Popp's death when the police said they would need more time to investigate and believe that the death may have been due to murder instead of suicide.

Ward B. Whitlock, assistant state bank examiner at Springfield, said that plans were under way for a reorganization of the bank to permit it to open Monday without loss to depositors and creditors. Subscriptions by other banks for sufficient funds by buying stock to meet any deficiencies is the plan considered.

Shortage Reported

Reports of shortage in bank funds were current as the bank examiners proceeded to an examination of the books today. Some reports were to the effect that the shortages aggregated $750,000 but the examiners issued no statement. Depositors who came to the bank and found it closed expressed more of curiosity than anxiety as a general rule. Paul Popp, cashier of the bank and son of the dead president, explained to investigators that he had given the cancelled checks to his father prior to his departure for California two months ago. He said that the $61,000 were drawn on his own personal account at the Republican National Bank at St. Louis.

"It was my own personal account," he said. "I don't wish to talk about that."

The cashier said that the St. Louis bank was not a correspondent for the local trust and savings bank.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—There is nothing irregular in connection with the $61,000 in cancelled checks found on the person of Fred W. Popp, Chicago banker, and drawn on the Republican National bank of St. Louis, J. A. Lewis, president of the local institution stated today.

The checks were drawn on the personal account of his son, Paul W. Popp, and the account has never been overdrawn, Mr. Lewis amplified.

"Paul Popp is a friend of mine," Lewis stated, "and last spring he opened a charge account with this bank. From time to time he made additional deposits and there was always a sufficient amount in deposit to cover checks drawn against the account. There is still a balance on hand and nothing irregular whatever."

Mr. Lewis said that Paul Popp stopped over in St. Louis last Thursday en route to Chicago from California, but that they merely discussed general business conditions.

Prof. J. O. Wood of the College did the scouts of Francis a mighty good turn this week when he took his fine radio set over there and gave a program for their benefit. Prof. Cunningham of the schools there gave it much publicity and the scout boys did their share and so the crowd was a good one and the boys realized $7.15 from it. Mr. Nathan Levin kindly took us over there in his car and on our way back he related some very amusing incidents connected with the first scout trip taken out of Ada to Oklahoma City when the boys hiked over there under the leadership of Mr. T. O. Cullins. He said that Mr. Cullins didn't say anything at all about a hike back.

Mr. Milam, coach at the College, has been giving the scout troops some fine talks on preparing for athletic meets.

Mr. John Zimmerman teacher at the College addressed the scouts of troop Nos. 4 and 5 on conservation Thursday night.

Prof. Tom McCormick of the College gave the scouts of Troop No. 7 some instruction on poultry keeping. Carl Marsh brought two of his hens along for Prof. McCormick to show the scouts how to judge a good hen. Owen Izzard and Haskell Floyd were in for having a chicken roast right away since it was not their pet hen.

Troop No. 3 certainly had a fine program at their meeting. Floyd Williams as senior patrol leader certainly handles that troop in fine shape and Scoutmaster Erving Bonner had a well outlined program which was much enjoyed by the parents present. Troop No. 3 has 32 scouts now. They have secured more new scouts than any other troop in town. Prof. Oscar Kimbrough has been present at several meetings lately and he has given the boys much help.

Oh Boy, the cots have arrived, thanks to the Shriners. So have the mattresses and now with a little hay in the mattresses or army slips the cots will be very comfortable. Even Prof. Bradshaw says that he wants to go to the Lodge right away now. Troop No. 7 says that it is their time to warm the mattresses out there. We will order some heavy screens for the windows soon and make a few other repairs and then things will be mighty comfortable out there.

Mr. J. C. Hynds, troop committeeman of troop No. 3 visited that troop last week. That is just the thing which we hope every troop committeeman will do.

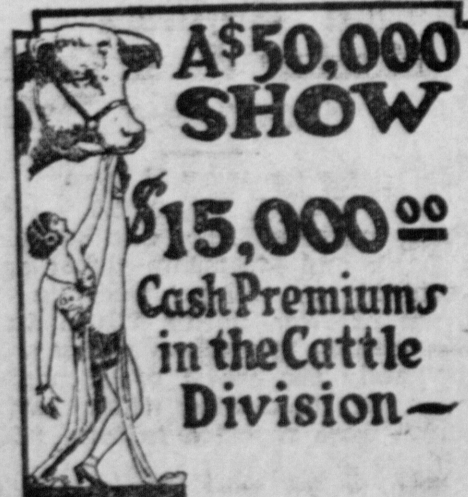

Next week, we will prepare our flower beds in the City Park. Next week we will also check up on the grades of all the scouts in the city schools and by the end of the month we will know which scout in each Sunday school in Ada won the "Life of Christ" examination contest.

What has become of Hubert Laird Carl Brown, Clinton Van Curon, and Ralph Morrow, who were going to work on their Eagle Scout badges? Scoutmaster L. J. Crowder and Mr. B. R. Stubbs, superintendent of the schools at Roff, have planned to take quite a few Roff scouts to Turner Falls for an over night hike. Sounds mighty good doesn't it scouts?

Prof. J. O. Wood of the College will give a radio concert at Center for the benefit of a scout organization there. It will be given on Monday evening. We expect to give but one or two more concerts this year. One will be given at Lulu if the way be clear and one at Colbert school house if the way be clear. Six scouts of Irving school helped to put the eighteen cots out at the Lodge. We took also the wedding and the hay.

Sam Bingham, Ora Russell, Clifton Johnson, Carl Linstrom, Jim Sullivan, Bonnie Fryer, Newman Edmiston, Floyd Carter, are the new scouts who have just joined the Irving school troop.

Aspen instead of pine has been used for safety matches in Sweden.

LISTENING AT JESUS'S FEET.

By
Dr. G. H. Crutcher.
Luke 10:39

"And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at the Lord's feet and heard his word."

The family at Bethany was highly favored by being permitted to entertain our Lord so often. No doubt they all appreciated it, but Mary made the wisest use of it. Martha sought to serve her Lord with her very best.

Mary was full of love for Jesus, as we know by her anointing him and, therefore, she was serving him with her very best. She did so by "listening to his word." Our Lord commended her method of service. It will be safe, therefore, for us to follow her example.

HERE WE SEE:
I. LOVE LISTENING—"which also sat at Jesus' feet."

When the shades of night come on, the members of the family are gathered, rest and commune, forgetting all care, oblivious to the outside world, and of time itself.

Like Mary, we should feel quite at home with Jesus. We should be free from worldly care.

Dr. Chalmers complained: "I am hustled out of my spirituality."

We should sweetly enjoy the happy leisure, which Jesus provides us as we muse upon the rest-giving theme which he reveals so clearly and make so true to us.

His work for us Finished, Accepted. Abidingly Effectual with Priceless Blessings.

"He that spared not His own son but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not also, with Him, freely give us all things?" Romans 8:32.

Mary had time to loiter at the feet of Jesus in a home where others were cumbered.

Shall WE find time?

II. LOVE IN LOWLINESS
"at Jesus' feet."

Bishop Hall said: "Whether shall we praise more Mary's humility or her docility? I do not see her take a stool and sit by Him, or a chair and sit above Him; but, as desiring to show her heart was so lowly as her knees, she sits at His feet. She was lowly set and richly warmed with His heavenly beams, the greater submission the more grace.

If there be one hollow, in the valley, lower than another, thither the water gathers."

In her lowliness, let each one personally copy Mary.

Let ME be—

I. A PENITENT,
which is an acknowledgement of my Unworthiness.

2. A DISCIPLE,
which is a Confession of my Ignorance.

3. A RECEIVER,
which is an admission of my Emptiness.

This posture befits me when I think of what I WAS, what I AM, what I MUST BE, what My Lord IS, and what He is to ME.

III. LOVE LISTENING—
"And heard His word."

The verb is imperfect, hence should be translated "Continued Listening."

Jay said: "Behold Mary, all Reverence, all Attention, all Communion; feeding on the Doctrine of ETERNAL LIFE—she sat at Jesus' feet. She wisely and zealously improved the opportunity given her for the good of her soul. This is my Summer, my Harvest; let me redeem the time."

Sacred Song:
"At the feet of Jesus,
Listening to His word;
Learning wisdom's lesson,
From her loving Lord,
Mary, led by Heavenly grace,
Chose the meek disciple's place.

At the feet of Jesus
Is the place for me;
There an humble learner,
Would I choose to be."

She could not have heard, if she had not been listening, and lowly, and listening at His feet.

Let us hear the Love-word:
"Harken O daughter, and consider,"
Psalms 45:10.

IV. LOVE LAUGHING—

She had obtained her Lord, His Love, His Presence, His Word, His Fellowship, and she sat there in FULL ENJOYMENT, to delight her soul with what she had so joyfully lighted upon.

Her Lord's promise assured her that she should not lose the GOOD part which she had chosen.

O, to be more with Jesus.

To HEAR Him more.

To LOVE Him more.

To ABIDE with Him.

I've Found a Friend.

I've found a Friend, oh, such a Friend.

He loved me ere I knew him;
He drew me with the cords of love,
And thus He bound me to him,
And 'round my heart still closely twine

A. T. TRIMM CELEBRATES SIXTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY.

A. T. Trimm, one of our most highly respected citizens, who resides two miles south of town on the Eyrd's Mill road, was the recipient of hearty congratulations by his friends and neighbors on the occasion of his sixty-eighth birthday March 8. Of this event one who was present writes as follows:

"Mr. Albert T. Trimm celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday last Thursday, March 8. It was Mrs. Trimm who celebrated. She gave a big dinner in his honor and all his neighbors were seated around the board. The table had been extended its full length and a smaller table had been 'added unto' so you see it was quite a banquet. The table was loaded with good things. The market, the home-cannery, and the well known farm smoke-house, were all well represented. It is needless to say that we ate. We did some eating. Mrs. Trimm is an excellent cook. The house was made gay with bowls of narcissus and violets.

Mr. Trimm is a native of Alabama and lived in Arkansas and Texas before coming to Oklahoma in an early day. The Trimm family made their home near Ada for the past 12 years with the exception of two spent at Los Angeles, California."

FARMERS TAKING MARKET BY RADIO

Wide Use of Radio on Market Reports is Practical Over Nation.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Farmers are making use of the radio in obtaining market reports. National wide broadcast by the United States Department of Agriculture is indicated in a survey just completed. Nearly 50 per cent of the hundreds of returns to an inquiry sent out by radio were from farmers who had radio receiving equipment. The remainder of the returns were from grain dealers, millers, elevators, banks, telephone companies, cooperative organizations, farm bureaus and other agencies which disseminate the reports among large groups of farmers.

Greatest interest was shown in the grain market reports, which in part farmers of wheat, corn and oats prices at the leading grain markets. Next in importance came the live-stock reports of prices and movements at the principal livestock markets of the country. The weather reports came next, followed by reports on poultry products, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, hay, cotton and other farm crops.

Radio had developed more rapidly in the middle west in the corn, wheat and livestock growing regions than in other farm sections, the survey shows. Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa lead in number of responses. Many farmers in this territory own radio equipment and prize the practical value of the service. In other sections farmers congregate at central points to get the radio reports, but an increasing disposition toward installation of sets for private use is indicated.

This is the first survey made by the department to determine how widely its radio market reports are being received and used by farmers, and affords much valuable information for developing the service to the maximum of efficiency. It has been known in a general way that the service has been of value to producers and other agricultural interests in the marketing of crops and to consumers through the regulating of market supplies, but definite data were not available until developed by the present survey. The department practically covers the country with its radio market news and farmers everywhere are using the service to aid them in conducting the business end of their industry. In the replies numerous farmers gave instances of specific savings resulting from use of the information, one farmer declaring that he regarded radio as a "direct gift from God." Numerous general stores and banks in small towns say that establishment of a central point for receiving the reports had resulted in tremendously increased business in many directions. The service has had far-reaching results other than removing the isolation which surrounds rural dwellers by reason of their location from centers of activity, and the bringing of vital market data to farmers with almost immeasurable speed.

The survey shows there are now few places in rural districts where people congregate even in small groups that are without the benefits of radio. Agricultural leaders see in this the development of a true community spirit which forms a large part of the base of agricultural prosperity. The Department of Agriculture is much gratified at the popularity and practical value of the radio market news and is now making plans for the further development and utilization of the service.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WITHHOLD NOT GOOD:—Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it.—Proverbs 3:27.

FINANCING THE FARMER.

Because the farm credit bill passed shortly before congress adjourned is a departure from other relief measures that have been in force since the war, its operation and its effect on the present banking system will be watched closely. The bill includes what are believed to be the best features of several proposed plans, and the arguments against it are purely in the realm of probabilities. The least benefits derived will be the lessons of experience in governmental financing. There is no doubt on the other hand that it will make credit sources more available to agricultural interests.

The bill creates twelve intermediate credit banks, to be officered and directed by the federal land banks. These banks will have a capital of $5,000,000 each, subscribe for by the secretary of the treasury. They are authorized to make loans on livestock and warehouse receipts up to 75 per cent of their value. The government is to be reimbursed through the return of one-half the net earnings of the intermediate banks, so that in the end its money will be returned while ownership of the banks is retained. The formation of private corporations to deal in agricultural paper, under general supervision of the government, is also permitted.

The farmer always has difficulty in obtaining access to credit facilities comparable to those depended on by other industries. It is this state of affairs which the bill strives to eliminate.

Opponents of the plan say it will give the farmer too much credit, as well as interfering with the well established banking system. There is no definite evidence, however, that this will be the case, and even if there were, the damage done would be temporary. Farm credits are necessary to industry at large as well as the farmer, and there is no reason for intolerant attitudes toward the plan which the majority adopts and enforces.—Kansas City Journal.

BOOTLEG.

It's costing over 15 million dollars a year to enforce prohibition. This is shown by figures furnished to Congress. That's getting off cheaply, for the nation, considering the sum that used to be rung up on the barroom cash register.

One of these days there may be a national referendum on prohibition, probably at a presidential election though the chances are at least two-to-one against. The election would be decided by the wets who at last minute might change their mind and vote dry. The key to liquor sentiment is in the commonly heard expression: "Glad my boy and the rest of the rising generation won't be able to get the stuff."—Ardmoreite.

Although it will be more than a month until the Oklahoma City trade boosters will be in Ada on the annual excursion, their Ada friends are already looking forward with pleasure to their visit. All of us have good friends among the business men of Oklahoma City, and it is a pleasure to have them drop in on us occasionally. These excursions have done much to create and cement a cordial feeling between the state metropolis and outside towns, for the Oklahoma City boosters are bully good fellows.

The Holdenville Democrat calls attention to the fact that if the legislature passes the bill creating a supreme court commissioners we shall have almost one appellate judge for every district judge in the state, since the present supreme court has nine members and criminal court of appeals three. There are 40 district judges and with 30 judges to pass on the matters coming from the lower courts the wheels of justice should be well greased.

The wife of Dr. Cook, the man of North Pole notoriety some years ago stuck to him when the rest of the world turned against him and denounced him after his claims to have reached the Pole were declared all humbug. However, she has now secured a divorce. Is it possible that she finally arrived at the conclusion the world reached several years ago?

SHERMAN TAUGHT IN SOUTH, SHOWN

Civil War Veteran Headed Southern School Before Outbreak of War.

(By the Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., March 7.—Launching of preparations for the annual reunion of the United States Confederate Veterans to be held in New Orleans in April has recalled to Louisiana historians an interesting fact in connection with one of the outstanding figures of the Civil War which is known to few persons of the present generation.

General William Tecumseh Sherman, who headed the "march to the sea" through Georgia, resigned as head of a southern educational institution in 1861 to tender his services to Ohio, his native state.

There hangs in Garig Hall, at Louisiana State University here, an oil painting of General Sherman, who was first superintendent of the old Louisiana State Seminary at Alexandria. The Seminary was burned in 1869, was relocated in Baton Rouge and became Louisiana State. General Sherman, who graduated at West Point, attained the rank of Colonel in the army, resigned his commission, and was elected superintendent of the Seminary in 1859.

A member of the faculty of the Seminary was Colonel Samuel H. Lockett, Commandant of Cadets, who graduated second in the class of 1859 at West Point. Colonel Lockett was an artist of note and the portrait of General Sherman now in Garig Hall was painted by him at Alexandria. Colonel Lockett, incidentally, enlisted in the service of the Confederacy at the outbreak of the war and as chief engineer with the troops at Vicksburg planned the fortification at that point which withstood for many months the siege of the Federal forces under General Grant.

The portrait of General Sherman hung over the mantel in the library of the Seminary at Alexandria and when the building burned it was carried to safety by the cadets.

CHAPTER IX

An Interrupted Siesta.

No man ever had a more eloquent and beautiful pleader for his cause than had Dick Gale in Mercedes Castaneda. Nell lay in the hammock, her hands behind her head, with rosy cheeks and arch eyes. Indeed she looked rebellious.

Dick was inclined to be rebellious himself. Belding had kept the rangers in off the line, and therefore Dick had been idle most of the time, and though he tried hard, he had been unable to stay far from Nell's vicinity. He believed she cared for him; but he could not catch her alone long enough to verify his tormenting hope. He had long before enlisted the loyal Mercedes in his cause; but in spite of this Nell had been more than a match for them both.

Gale pondered over an idea he had long revolved in mind, and which now suddenly gave place to a decision that made his heart swell and his cheek burn. He went in search of Mrs. Belding, and found her busy in the kitchen.

The relation between Gale and Mrs. Belding had subtly and incomprehensibly changed. He understood her less than when at first he divined an antagonism in her. If such a thing were possible she had retained the antagonism while seeming to yield to some influence that must have been fondness for him. Gale had come to care greatly for Nell's mother. Not only was she the comfort and strength of her home, but also of the inhabitants of Fortorn River. Indian, Mexican, American were all the same to her in trouble or illness; and then she was nurse, doctor, peacemaker, helper. She was good and noble, and there was not a child or grownup in Fortorn River who did not love and bless her. But Mrs. Belding did not seem happy. She seldom smiled, and never laughed. There was always a soft, sad, hurt look in her eyes. Gale often wondered if there had been other tragedy in her life than the supposed loss of her father in the desert.

Mrs. Belding heard Dick's step as he entered the kitchen, and, looking up, greeted him.

"Mother," began Dick, earnestly. Belding called her that, and so did Ladd and Lash, but it was the first time for Dick. "Mother—I want to speak to you."

The only indication Mrs. Belding gave of being startled was in her eyes, which darkened, shadowed with multiplying thought.

"I love Nell," went on Dick, simply, "and I want you to let me ask her to be my wife."

Mrs. Belding's face blanched to a deathly white. Gale, thinking with surprise and concern that she was going to faint, moved quickly toward her, took her arm.

"Forgive me. I was blurt. . . . But I thought you knew."

"I've known for a long time," replied Mrs. Belding. Her voice was steady, and there was no evidence of agitation except in her pallor. "Then you haven't spoken to Nell?"

Dick laughed. "I've been trying to get a chance to tell her. I haven't had it yet. But she knows. I hope. I almost believe Nell cares a little for me."

"I've known that, too, for a long time," said Mrs. Belding, low almost as a whisper.

"You know!" cried Dick, with a glow and rush of feeling. "Mother! You'll give her to me?"

She drew him to the light and looked with strange, piercing intensity into his face. Gale had never dreamed a woman's eyes could hold such a world of thought and feeling. It seemed all the sweetness of life was there, and all the pain.

"Dick Gale, you want my Nell? You love her just as she is—her sweetness—her goodness? Just herself, body and soul? . . . There's nothing could change you—nothing?"

"Dear Mrs. Belding, I love Nell for herself. If she loves me I'll be the happiest of men. There's absolutely nothing that could make any difference in me."

"But your people? Oh, Dick, you come of a proud family. I can tell. You've become a ranger. You love the adventure—the wild life. That won't last. Perhaps you'll settle down to ranching. I know you love the West. But, Dick, there's your family—"

"If you want to know anything about my family, I'll tell you," interrupted Dick, with strong feeling. "I've no secrets about them or myself. My future and happiness are Nell's to make. No one else shall count with me."

"Then, Dick—you may have her. God—bless—you—both."

Mrs. Belding's strained face underwent a swift and mobile relaxation, and suddenly she was weeping in strangely mingled happiness and bitterness.

"Why, mother!" Gale could say no more. He put his arm around her. In another moment she had gained command over herself, and, kissing him, she pushed him out of the door.

"There! Go tell her, Dick. . . . And have some spunk about it!"

Gale went thoughtfully back to his room. Then remembering the hope Mrs. Belding had given him, Dick lost his gravity in a flash, and something began to dance and ring within him. He simply could not keep his steps turned from the patio. Every path led there. His blood was throbbing, his hopes rebounding, his spirit soaring.

"Now for some spunk!" he said, under his breath.

Plainly he meant his merry whistle and his buoyant step to interrupt this first languorous stage of the siesta which the girls always took during the hot hours. But neither girl heard him. Mercedes lay under the pale verde, her beautiful head dark and still upon a cushion. Nell was asleep in the hammock. Her sweet, red lips, with the soft, perfect curve, had always fascinated Dick, and now drew him irresistibly. He had always been consumed with a desire to kiss her, and now he was overwhelmed with his opportunity. It would be a terrible thing to do, but if she did not waken at once—No, he would fight the temptation. That would be more than spunk. It would—She stirred—he feared she would awaken.

He had dropped back erect when she opened her eyes. They were sleepy, yet surprised until she saw him. Then she was wide awake in a second, bewildered, uncertain.

"Why—you here?" she asked, slowly. "Large as life!" replied Dick, with unusual sagacity.

"How long have you been here?" "Just got here this fraction of a second," he replied, lying shamelessly.

"I thought—I was—dreaming," she said, and evidently the sound of her voice reassured her.

"Yes, you looked as if you were having pleasant dreams," replied Dick. "So sorry to wake you. I can't see how I came to do it. I was so quiet. Mercedes didn't wake. Well, I'll go and let you have your siesta and dreams."

But he did not move to go. Nell regarded him with curious, speculative eyes.

"Isn't it a lovely day?" queried Dick. "Yesterday was finer, but you didn't notice it."

"Oh, yesterday was somewhere back in the past—the inconsequential past."

Nell's sleepy eyes opened a little wider. She did not know what to make of this changed young man. Dick felt gleeful and tried hard to keep the fact from becoming manifest.

"What's the inconsequential past? You seem remarkably happy today."

"I certainly am happy. Adios. Pleasant dreams."

Dick turned away then and left the patio by the opening into the yard. Nell was really sleepy, and when she had fallen asleep again he would return. He walked around for a while. Presently, as if magnet-drawn, he retraced his steps to the patio and entered noiselessly.

Nell was now deep in her siesta. She was inert, relaxed, untroubled by dreams. Her hair was damp on her brow.

Again Nell stirred, and gradually awakened. Her eyes unclosed, humid, shadowy, unconscious. They rested upon Dick for a moment before they became clear and comprehensive. He stood back fully ten feet from her, and to all outside appearances regarded her calmly.

"I've interrupted your siesta again," he said. "Please forgive me. I'll take myself off."

He wandered away, and when it became impossible for him to stay away any longer he returned to the patio.

The instant his glance rested upon Nell's face he divined she was feigning sleep. Dick dropped upon his knees and bent over her. He wanted more than anything he had ever wanted in his life to see if she would keep up that pretense of sleep and let him kiss her. She must have felt his breath, for her hair waved off her brow. Her cheeks were now white. Her breast swelled and sank. He bent down closer—closer. But he must have been maddeningly slow, for as he bent still closer Nell's eyes opened, and he caught a swift purple gaze of eyes as she whirled her head. Then, with a little cry, she rose and fled.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION FOR TEXAS FAILS TO PASS

(By the Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Tex., March 10.—The proposal to submit to the voters of Texas the proposal of calling a constitutional convention was probably finally defeated for the present session when the senate today by a tie vote of 14 to 14 refused to adopt a majority favorable committee report on a house resolution. Senator Dudley, presiding, ruled that the tie vote killed the resolution.

CRUTCHER STIRS AUDIENCE HERE

Subject, "Repent or Perish Meets With Feeling in Meeting Here"

Dr. G. H. Crutcher, the evangelist in the Baptist revival meeting delivered Friday night what was said to be the greatest sermon he has preached thus far in the revival meeting on the subject "Repent or Perish." The speaker, in discussing repentance, said he would first tell what it was not. He said it was not worldly sorrow; that is to say not the kind of sorrow experienced by the man who has violated law and been caught and brought before the courts. He is only sorry that he got caught. It is not remorse of conscience; it is not Godly sorrow. Godly sorrow may lead to repentance but is not repentance within itself. He showed that repentance is to turn away from sin and before a man could repent he must be brought to see the awfulness of sin. Then repentance of the Bible sort would lead him to make restitution for his past in so far as it was possible to do so.

At the close of the service there were several conversions and seven additions to the church. The audience was large last night and a spiritual atmosphere was among the people. Service Saturday morning at ten o'clock was well attended and the preacher brought another great message in the subject, "What does God do with our sins when we accept Christ?" There were two additions at this service. This brings the total additions up to fifteen for the week.

Mr. Randall continues to lead the music in a delightful way. Friday night was High School night and a large number of the students and faculty was present and Mr. Randall had them sing. They did it in a masterly way.

Sunday night will be "Family Night" and the evangelist is anxious to have many entire families present for the service. Monday night will be "Lodge Night" and the lodges are urged to attend either in bodies or as individuals.

WALTON MAY PUT VETO CLUB OVER

would be no chance of overriding his veto afterwards.

As it is claimed the revenues of the state will be sufficient to meet only the regular appropriations, thus leaving nothing to vitalize the Walton program, a proposal has been brought forward for boosting the state income at least another $7,000,000. The proposed new income tax bill would be good for part of this, it was argued. The fate of the measure is uncertain and no other revenue measure has yet been seriously advanced, should the income tax bill fail.

The other alternative would be to cut down the supply bills enough to take care of the appropriations proposed in the administration bills. It is generally agreed that there would be no chance of putting through such a scheme.

Two Boys Held in Mysterious Death of Salisaw Farmer

(By the Associated Press)
SALISAW, March 10.—Mack Dodson, 21, son of William Dodson, wealthy farmer, was shot and instantly killed on the main street of Marble City last night. There were no eye witnesses so far as the authorities have been able to learn.

Roy Sloan and Ted Dissiwe, both 19, were taken into custody and lodged in jail here pending further examination. While the sheriff and county authorities do not believe the boys are directly connected with the killing, the officers are of the opinion the boys can give information that will solve the mystery. The uncommunicative attitude of the boys caused their arrest, the sheriff said.

DEADLY DISEASE CLAIMING MANY IN VOLGA REGION

(By the Associated Press)

SAMARA—Typhus which scourged the Volga Valley and claimed thousands of victims from one end of Russia to the other last year, has appeared this winter only in scattered localities and, unless the unexpected occurs, medical authorities consider the danger of epidemics on a vast scale is ended.

There are several areas in the Volga valley and the Ukraine where the 1922 harvests failed poorly, and in these famine already is raging again. Nothing like the terrible conditions of the ghastly winter of 1921-1922 exist, however, and although eight million persons are listed as needing complete or partial support by charity, even the most pessimistic observers do not expect that the horrors will be repeated in the proportions of last year.

PAULS VALLEY.—The city has raised $7,500 for the purpose of buying a lot on which a modern three-story hotel will be erected. The lot is given as a bonus to the builder of the hotel.

Officials Lay Plans for Annual Interscholastic Meet Here; Next Meet Expected to Top Record

Looking forward to the Eleventh Annual Interscholastic meet to be held here April 20 and 21, Ada is preparing to offer her hospitality to the students and athletes of this district of the state.

Every school in this section of the state is expected to be represented at some event taken in with the wide scope of activities, music, reading, spelling and the various athletic contests.

Interscholastic meets in the past have attracted a wide range of schools and have given open competition in the various lines of school endeavor. The meets have increased in attendance and interest from year to year and officials are not exaggerating when they maintain that the 1923 meet will be the greatest in the history of the city.

The meets are held under the auspices of the East Central College and officials of the college have charge of the arrangements for the holding of the various contests.

The Annual Basketball Tournament was formerly held in connection with the meet but increased representation from the schools of the district forced the holding of the two phases of athletics under different heads.

Special interest will be lending to promoting a competitive spirit to the grade as well as high school students, according to officials.

The eleventh annual East Central Interscholastic meet will be held at Ada on the campus of the college, April 20 and 21, 1923. The faculty and student body of East Central extend the warmest welcome to all visitors whether they be high school or grade school students, teachers or parents.

The general eligibility rules of the Oklahoma High School Athletic association will apply to contestants in the meet. All high schools in the district not under suspension from above association are invited to compete. All grade schools in the district are eligible to enter.

Track and Field Meet.

The meet shall be divided into two sections known as the high school and grade school sections. All contestants who have passed their 15th birthday or who weigh 115 pounds or more shall compete in the high school section. Those under 15 years or 115 pounds may compete in the grade school section unless they are bona fide high school students in which case they shall represent their high school. Grade school contestants represent their county and high school students represent the school in which they are enrolled.

The following events are offered in the high school section: 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes; 880 and mile run; 220-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles; 12-pound shot, discus; running high and broad jumps; pole vault; mile relay.

The following events are offered in the grade school section: 50, 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes; 120-yard low hurdle; 8-pound shot and discus; running high and broad jumps and pole vault; half mile relay.

Baseball.

A high school baseball tournament will be held during the meet.

Tennis.

A tennis tournament consisting of singles and doubles for high school boys and girls will be held in connection with the meet. Each high school may enter one team of girls and one of boys in singles and doubles. A teachers' tournament for men will be open to all teachers of the district.

Reading.

In the reading contests each high school may enter one girl and one boy. Each grade school in the district may enter one girl and one boy, provided that no one more than 14 years or less than 6 may compete. The time used in reading must not be more than 15 minutes.

Music.

In the music contests, the contestants will sing the district selection and one other. The contests and the district selections follow:

Piano: Berceuse by Maurice Horatio Parker, pub. John Church; Soprano: The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest, in E. flat, by Moszkowski, Pub. by G. Schirmer Music Co., New York, N. Y. Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Band and orchestra make their own selection. Music may be secured from the publishers.

In all reading and music contests in which more than two schools are entered preliminary contests will be held to select two contestants for the finals on Friday evening, April 20.

Gold, sterling and bronze will be given the winners of first, second and third places respectively in the high school track and field meet. Sterling and bronze will be given the winners of first and second in the grade school section. A gold medal will be given to each member of the winning high school relay team and a sterling medal will be given to each member of the winning grade school relay team. A gold medal will be given to the all round man in each section. Gold medals will be given to the tennis winners. Gold medals will be given to the winners of first places in high school reading, piano and voice. Sterling medals will be given winners in grade school reading. Loving cups will be given in the group contests such as baseball, chorus, orchestra, band and quartet. The original track cup that was offered in 1913 is now held jointly between the Henryetta and Ada high schools as a result of the tie score in the 1922 meet. It has been won twice by Purcell, Shawnee and Henryetta.

General Information.

Ada, the home of the East Central State Teachers college, is accessible from all parts of the district. From the north, south and east the Katy and Frisco railroads maintain good service while from the west there are two trains daily on the Santa Fe.

Entries for the meet positively close for both classes on April 18. Upon receipt of the Entries properly certified by superintendent or principal, assignment of rooms will be made and the contestant upon his arrival in Ada should call immediately upon the assignment committee for his card. This card identifies him and directs him to his lodging. Official entry blanks have been prepared upon which entries must be made.

Lunch will be served at noon on both days at a reasonable price, in the Normal cafeteria. They will cater especially to the demands of the track athletes but will be prepared to take care of all. A check room for the convenience of visitors, will also be maintained.

Hints for Grading in Chorus and Piano Contests.

All grades are based on the scale of one hundred per cent.

Chorus—Graded as follows: (1) Selection, 30 per cent; (2) Tone Quality, 30 per cent; (3) Interpretation, 30 per cent; (4) Appearance, 10 per cent.

Selection—A good high school chorus does not necessarily have to be composed by one of the masters to receive the highest grade under selection. Such a selection if entirely too difficult or if sung with utter lack of understanding on the part of the chorus will receive a lower grade than a simpler song sung intelligently and of less celebrated composer. Such a song should of course possess real musical worth.

Interpretation—Interpretation hardly needs an explanation. A song well sung must always show a sympathetic understanding of words and mood on the part of the singer and a very earnest desire to help the audience to understand its content.

Tone Quality—Tone quality can not be over-stressed in high school chorus work. Every teacher knows how quickly forced tones ruin the voices of young boys and girls.

Appearance—Only uniformity and simplicity of dress are considered.

Piano graded as follows: Selection, 33 1-3 per cent; Technique, 33 1-3 per cent; Interpretation, 33 1-3 per cent.

Selection. 1. Something of musical worth. 2. Entirely within the performer's technical ability.

Interpretation. 1. Good singing tone. 2. Clean, cut phrasing. 3. Good rhythm. 4. Ability to grasp meaning of selection and convey it to hearers. 5. Play expressively but not sentimentally.

Technique. 1. Correct reading. 2. Correct fingering. 3. Correct time. 4. Correct pedaling.

Hints for Athletes in Training.

1. Always "warm up" before exertion.

2. Work at the time of day you expect to compete.

3. Do not keep step with any one; no two runners have the same stride.

4. Don't look back in any race.

5. When tempted to quit remember the other fellow is as tired as you are.

6. Use your head. If a man starts too fast don't follow him.

Perseverance may Bring Success to George Smith

By NORMAN E. BROWN

If perseverance really does play a major part in bringing success Pitcher George Smith ought to get some where this next season or thereabouts. For this former college star has been persevering long enough to deserve a measure of fame.

Smith is the hurler obtained by Brooklyn a few days ago from the Phillies for Clarence Mitchell, southpaw hurler. Robinson is confident that Smith will deliver for his club and strengthen the pitching staff despite the fact that George has been striving in vain to get going for seven years or more.

Smith was heralded as a coming star eight or nine years ago as a result of his great hurling for Columbia university. They called him a second Matty. The call went out a dozen major and minor league clubs in the race for his services. And then he failed to come through.

He was farmed out to Rochester twice, sent to Cincinnati for a while and was loaned to the Dodgers in the 1916 season. It was his general style and earnestness while the Dodgers had him that season that impressed Manager Robinson who had just borrowed him for an emergency. Robbie kept the hurler in mind.

Smith's main shortcoming seems to be the inability to absorb the points of the game. He has a good arm, hurls steady ball and is reliable. But that alone doesn't get him there. Robinson during the brief time he had Smith, noticed the newcomer's shortcomings, but didn't feel free to change his style or manners while using him there. Now he can try to make over the pitcher. Last season Smith won but five games and lost fourteen for the Phils. He pitched but six complete games. This does not indicate, however, that he couldn't last in the others. He was shoved in many times when the game seemed doomed. He pitched a total of 194 innings and of the 124 runs scored off him 103 were earned, which gave his opponents an average of 4.78 runs a game. This wasn't very impressive. However, it must be said in fairness to Smith that the morale of the Philly team last year was extremely low, as was its percentage.

If Robinson can remedy Smith's shortcomings and swing him into winning form the Brooklyn Dodgers will be strengthened mightily.

Tigers Have no Regret On Records of Year on State Basketball Court

CAGER MEET HAS FINANCIAL LOSS

More Teams Entered in Ada Tournament but Door Receipts Less

Little difference is seen in the financial receipts in the holding of the Annual Basketball Tournament, which closed here last Saturday, according to a financial report of M. Z. Thompson, athletic director.

One of the outstanding features of the financial receipts, show that more miles were travelled by contending teams but less gate receipts taken in during the tournament, which caused the budget for the teams to be lessened.

A total of 6,621 miles were travelled by all teams represented at the tournament, which is a decrease over the 7,206 miles travelled by contending teams on the year previous. A total of $252.90 was taken in at gate receipts this year, which allowed an average of .035 to be paid per mile. A total of $271.56 was taken in the year previous allowing .041042 to be paid per mile.

Several payments were made to contending teams here before they left for their homes after the tournament and others were mailed on the following Monday.

Following is the list of teams and their prorata allotments:

Although the record of achievement of the Tiger basketball quintet will not bear the fast march of other victorious teams in the state, much can be said of the development of the team during the past season, which promises to show an important note in the intercollegiate cager struggles of the future.

Although fallen under the heel of many other teams in the state, the Tiger quintet dodged no issue and met their obligations in a manner threatening to any opponent.

The Tiger crew met the best in the state and fared well in their part of the encounter. Weatherford, Phillips and Durant, strong teams of the conference have tasted the fight put up by the Tiger clansmen.

A new record was established at Enid when the Tigers and the Phillips university teams fought five extra periods, before the Phillips quintet finally gained the extra point and were acclaimed victors.

The Durant Savages also ran into a neat surprise here when the Tigers held the invaders to a close score after leading them for the first period of the game. Durant claimed one of the best teams in the state.

Personnel of Team.

Owing to the material with which the Coaches were confronted at the beginning of the season, East Central State Teachers College Basketball Team was not so successful according to percentage of games won and lost as was our Football team or our baseball team the past season.

With the material at the end of the season having one year of experience and all college men it looks like the future will be much brighter. The personnel of the team will be practically unchanged for another year. With Miller, a stellar forward and one year college experience, it is the census of the sport fans that he will develop into one of the best forwards of the state. As running mate he has Jobe, a local boy of one year experience who is fast and aggressive and has a good eye for the basket.

At center the coaches will have a choice between Newton and Kelly, Newton being 6 feet and weighing 165 pounds. He has two years college experience. Kelly weighs 155 pounds and his height is 5 feet and 11 inches. He is fast and aggressive, active in the goal, has speed to burn. It looks as though we would have one or two of the best centers in the State another year.

College coaches over the state have remarked of the wonderful playing of Earl Johnson, who is also a local boy, a man of no mean ability, and perhaps the most aggressive player on the entire squad. His height is 5 feet 10 inches, and he weighs 155 pounds. In Johnson, the coach of any basketball team would find a college player, capable of making any college team, and a real asset.

Evans Dependable Guard.

Don Evans, this year's captain, the bulwark of our defense, weighs 142 pounds, is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and a real leader. He is considered by several of the college coaches as the best defensive guard in the State.

In Ott Harrison we have a man of three years playing ability, who fast and aggressive, has a good knowledge of the game. He is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, and weighs 145 pounds. Harrison is a real defensive guard and an asset to any college team.

Waner is Star.

Height 5 feet, 9 inches. Weight 155 pounds.

Waner won fame in College sports through his baseball ability. He developed to be a very fast forward and a regular on the college squad. The team was seriously handicapped by his leaving in the middle of the season for baseball practice. The team mates remember Waner as a true sport, a hard fighter, a clean competitor, and a loyal East Centralite. Although Waner will never be eligible for College Athletics again, he will be a real asset for any position he would choose to play.

ATHLETIC CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

Business Men Urged to Attend Meeting of Club Here Sunday

The tired business man can vouch that racing around a mile track, skidding over a muddy field with a piggskin under one arm or sweating under a torrid sky in a baseball suit is little compared to the manly art of getting young again at a reclining age.

The Ada Athletic club, under the rule of Jack Edwards, of former fighting fame, has demonstrated this fact with the members of the newly organized club.

Business men have found this institution a desirable place to work over some surplus flesh as well as keeping in fit for the routine of life.

The clubrooms afford a few of the modern gymnasium accompaniments at the present but plans are under way for installation of latest gymnasium equipment, where the more appropriate of baths and rub-downs may be obtained after the evening sport.

Edwards with a corps of assistants will adopt modern plans of working over members of the club and every article of manual training will be used from boxing gloves to dumb bells.

Further plans in making the institution one of value to the community were taken up Thursday night at a meeting of business men and interested parties.

A similar meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at the American Legion Hall and all parties interested are urged to attend.

SCOUTS HERE FOR BASKETBALL MEET

Teams From Francis, Oakman, Fitchugh and Stonewall Here for Meet

Stonewall, Francis, Fitchugh and Oakman had teams in the basketball tournament here Saturday. Francis brought two teams and so did Stonewall. All of the "A" class games were played at the Armory and were refereed by Mr. George Morrison, who gave universal satisfaction.

The "B" class teams played at the High School and were refereed by Paul Rayburn, who did very high school here-forever indeed.

The team which really sprang the greatest surprise as to team work and as to spirit was the team of scouts from Oakman who played in the B class. However, the teams from Troop Nos. 4 and 5 in each class had by far the fastest and most skillful players. There was no rough or unsportsmanlike playing by any of the scouts. Francis A class team consisting of Willie Payne, Lenard Henson, Orville Edwards, Clifton Burns, Cecil Foster, Everett Agge played a hard and fast game against Troops 4 and 5, but the latter was too much for them. Troop 4 and 5 team had as its players, Harvey and Bennie Shipman, Herman Floyd, Clifford Elliot and Simon Killcrease. The B class team of this same troop had Carl Coleman, Guy Sadler, Claude Tichnor, Ray Young, N. T. Heard, Jr., as players and each one played their places well. Glenwood Troop played hard and fast and won second in the B class, so did Troop 7 in the A class who played in the finals.

Nearly all of the games were close and at times very exciting. The first Boy Scout Basketball Tournament was considered a great success by scout officials. The winners in each class were the teams of troop 5 and 5 of which Mr. Roy Meeks is scoutmaster and Clifton Parker is coach.

CUNNINGHAM TO TAKE FRANCIS GIRLS TO MEET

Coach Cunningham of the Francis high school plans to take his girls team, which swept the district tournament here last week, to Norman the coming week for the state girls basketball tournament. He expresses confidence that his girls can come off winners of the tournament and mentioned Guthrie as the only team he considered dangerous contenders.

Oakman and Pickett girls met at the armory in Ada Friday night for a game of basketball. Near the end of the first half, with the score 10 to 7 in favor of Oakman, Mildred Stephens of the Oakman team was badly hurt and the game called off. She was taken to the home of her father, Clay Stephens, and was reported getting along very well Saturday.

ALL SPORTS GET ATTENTION HERE

Favoritism in Sport Fought By Athletic Director of Local College

A line of athletic endeavor that will permit a student to follow his favorite or most adapted sport, is the aim of the mentor of the East Central College, M. Z. Thompson said.

This feature of varied sport activity is one not offered by any other school in the Oklahoma Collegiate conference, according to Thompson.

The aspirant for Tiger honors has a wide field in which to cast his lot and the scrutiny on one line of athletic endeavor is not tolerated at the East Central College. Football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track are all included and given equal right-of-way on the East Central sport calendar.

Several schools of the Oklahoma Collegiate conference turn their big appropriation in making football honor nestle close to the school alma mater. Others spend their best effort on baseball and basketball and others go in strong for track.

Thompson points out that the high school graduate seeking a school where all phases of athletics are given attention for the sake of building up the physical personnel of the school and not a reputation in one certain athletic event, could find no College in the state a more conservative sport calendar is offered.

Thompson indicates that while the Tiger athletics have not forsaken their general sport calendar for one certain line, they have made their presence felt in sport events in the state.

ARMORE.—The county agent figures that 30,000 acres will be planted in cotton in Carter county this year.

Run your own race. Don't let any one get too far ahead of you near the last quarter of a half-mile, mile or two-mile—it's hard to catch up.

7. Get a rub-down after each event. It helps to relieve fatigue.

8. Don't cut in ahead of a man until you are fully two paces in the lead.

9. Speed is essential in weight events.

10. Sprinters and hurdlers should practice fast work. Leave the long runs for distance men.

11. The best way to learn to run is by running.

12. Breathe through the mouth and nose, particularly in the severe tests as in distance events, where you need all the air you can get.

13. Dress warmly when the weather is cold. It is foolish to stand around or run distances in scant track attire, as strains and chills often result.

TIGERS ROMP IN BASEBALL SUITS

Sportdom Awaits Appearance Of Tigers on Diamond for State Honors

When the football heroes turn over their suits and the piggskin is stored away for the year and the basketball is thrown for its last effort at the basket, Tiger sportdom lets out its mighty yell and welcomes the event of baseball on the College campus.

When the diamond dust is scattered over the state non can lay claim to the right-of-way of the East Central Tiger baseball nine, last year's champions.

Early last week found the athletic field at the College sprinkled with aspirants for some position on one of the angles of the College diamond. Coach Milam held the aspirants to a light workout during the week in preparation to a period of intensive training prior to the first Collegiate game held March 19 with the Murray Aggies.

Tiger coaches see no other result than victory in the year's schedule. Practically all the old heads of the last season are back in uniform and many new youngsters are bidding for positions on the diamond. The old Tiger infield is practically intact this year with a strong bid for an air-tight outfield. Several prospective hurlers have reported to fill the pitching staff.

The Tigers severe loss of the season will be in Waner, who recently reported to the San Francisco Seals to make his debut in professional baseball. Waner proved the sensation of the past season in his performances in the box, in the field and at bat. Waner will be missed on the Tiger line-up.

Following is the Tiger schedule for the year:

March 29 and 30	at Ada, Tigers vs. Murray Aggies.
April 4 and 5	at Edmond, Tigers vs. Central Teachers College.
April 10 and 11	at Chillico, Tigers vs. Chillico Indian Academy.
April 12 and 13	at Stillwater, Tigers vs. A. & M.
April 14	at Ada, Tigers vs. Arkansas U.
April 18 and 19	at Ada, Tigers vs. Central Teachers College.
April 26 and 27	at Shawnee, Tigers vs. O. B. U.
May 3 and 4	at Wilburton, Tigers vs. Oklahoma School of Mines.
May 10 and 11	at Ada, Tigers vs. O. B. U.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Inspections of national guard units scattered over the state are under way, conducted by federal and state officers. Major Charles W. Daley of Tulsa and Captain Floyd Moore, U. S. army inspector, recently inspected two companies at Okmulgee.

CONTRACT FOR BASEBALL PARK TO BE LET HERE

Ada baseball fans will have one of the most up-to-date parks in the state for the coming baseball season, according to the announcement of A. O. Green, manager of the Ada club.

All plans are now complete for the building of the park on West Main street and the contract drawn up to await preliminary details before the construction is started.

Plans for raising the funds for the building of the park will be the problems for local fans, although the park has been assured by contracts with private interests.

The park will be modern in every detail. It will be built on a concrete foundation with ten rows of seats in the grand stand not inclusive of the rows of box seats. Dressing rooms with showers will be built for the accommodations of two teams. Ladies rest rooms will be included.

The park will be built to regulate size and promises to be the meeting place of athletic events of any nature for years to come.

Oil News

The week in the Pontotoc County fields showed few new developments. The new well at Bebee in section 32-5-5, operated by the Carter-Lowrey syndicate, was cleaned out and put on the pump Saturday. Something was not working just right, however, and a definite statement what the well will do cannot be given at this time. The difficulty was overcome late Saturday afternoon, it was reported, and the amount of production should be available by Monday or Tuesday.

This hole was standing 1500 feet in oil, according to what are considered reliable reports, which would indicate it will be very profitable.

The old Nance well, now owned by the Empire Gas & Fuel company in section 4-4-7, was put on the pump again during the week. In three days it put approximately 145 barrels of oil in the tank. This is considered good production for a well two years old. The oil is 38 gravity, which would bring a premium where it placed on the market.

The discovery well in section 32-5-5 has been cleaned out and is good for around 25 barrels a day. If the new well proves up as well as all are expecting, this will give three good producers in the Bebee field, and there is a strong probability of some refinery tapping the field within a short time.

The American Oil and Refining Company is still drilling on the well just north of the city in section 16-4-6. This hole is now 2259 feet deep. The progress is being watched closely by geologists and scouts, and a good strike would mean great activity.

Arrangements are said to be about complete for another well in the Franis fields, this being in section 19-5-7. Completion of all preliminaries is expected to be made today or Monday.

Allen Field.

The Homack Oil company is preparing to drill on its holdings west of town the work being planned to commence within the next few days. It is said a 10-inch hole will be put down, which would indicate that this company is seeking the deeper stuff.

The Great Lakes Oil and Gas company is beginning another well in section 29, fifty feet from the one recently completed in this section which found a good producer in the Allen sand but which was lost on account of water breaking in. After going to the 1400 foot sand the well developed into a salt water producer and was abandoned.

Wetumka District.

Prairie-Wilhoit C-1 Gregory in the northwest of the southwest of the southeast of 5-9-10 is spudding in.

Tidal-Osage No. 1 Williams in the southwest of the northwest of 4-10 is drilling at 550 feet.

Carnegie Museum Director Claims People Interested Discoveries in Old Egypt

(By the Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Douglas Stewart, director of the Museum of the Carnegie Institute, reports the liveliest interest on the part of the public in the life of ancient Egypt. The discoveries in the tomb of Tut-enkhamun at Luxor have, he says, made the history of 35 centuries ago present day news. Public curiosity has been aroused in a civilization of which most people had never heard, and the visitors are fascinated by the physical mementoes of a long gone race.

The largest exhibit in the museum is the remains of a Nile boat of an admiral, buried with him according to the custom of interring the tools of trade with the dead. There is not a nail in this boat. It is fastened together by wooden pins dovetailed into the timbers, and by thongs. It dates from 4000 B. C. 500 years before Tut-enkhamun's time, or 600 years before Abraham went to Ur of the Chaldees.

Even older is one of several kohl pots, made about 5000 B. C. which were used to contain eyelid paint for the Egyptian beauties of the court. It is covered with a very thin layer of pure gold, similar to the gold found in Tut-enkhamun's tomb by Lord Carnarvon. Bronze mirrors appropriately find a place beside the eye paint pots. Nearby a razor of the eighteenth dynasty is seen to be of precisely the same model as the old style razor of today, working on a swivel handle, and proving that barbers shaved their customers 2500 years ago just as they do today. A group of fishhooks of 1580 B. C. constitutes another exhibit where the design has not changed in 35 centuries.

The exhibits of ancient Egyptian pottery show that the shapes in use in the Egypt of today are exactly those used in Tut-enkhamun's time. The water pots have the same pointed bottom, necessary to press into the sand to keep them upright.

The exhibits in the Carnegie Museum are mostly from Tell-el-Amarna, the capital of Pharaoh Ikhnaton, which he built when his refusal to worship other gods than the sun god led him to leave Memphis. Tell-el-Amarna was abandoned on his death and the return of his successor to the ancient worship at Memphis. The site, which is 150 miles south of Cairo, was excavated by the Germans before the war and since then by the Egypt Exploration Fund to which the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh has contributed.

Besides a mummified baby, a number of mummy cases, and several pieces of decorative art in which the designs and colors are as perfect today as when they were first painted, the exhibit has mummified cats, several scarabs, one with an inscription from the Book of the Dead, and many smaller antiquities of the different dynasties.

Director Stewart has added to the collection on display a copy of a beautiful necklace of the Princess Knoumit, which will be of value to designers of jewelry by affording them a true type of ancient Egyptian art, now being sought by modern fashion creators.

Besides the interest of the adult population, the public school children of the eighth grades are attending lectures by museum assistants, who find their juvenile auditors as keenly interested in the pharaohs as they usually are in the exhibits of the American Indians.

Sunday Schools of State Represented at Okmulgee Meet

(By the Associated Press)

OKMULGEE, March 8.—The thirtieth annual convention of the Oklahoma Sunday School association will be held here Saturday, Sunday and Monday, according to local officials in charge of preparations for the gathering. The three-day series of meetings and conferences are expected to bring together about 1,000 state Sunday school workers, and will also be attended by officials of the national association.

Rev. Marion Lawrence of Chicago, 2 leader in the organization of the national association, will speak each day of the convention. Bishop E. L. Waldorf of Wichita, Kansas, will deliver an address on "Upper Room," at the opening session Saturday morning, according to the program.

Prof. B. L. Cook of Fort Worth, Texas, head of the department of religious education at Texas Christian university, and a member of the board of trustees of the Sunday School council, will also speak each day.

Walter C. Moore, of Kansas City Missouri, superintendent of the Young Peoples' division of the Kansas City Sunday School association, will lecture on the handling and leadership of young people.

Miss Mabel L. Bailey of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, will have charge of the division of children's department workers at the convention. She is instructor in the training school maintained at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, and superintendent of children's work in that state.

Indian Chief is Pleased in Talk With Gov. Walton

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9. — Chief William Faw-Faw of the Otoe Indians has adopted Gov. J. C. Walton as his "Big Brother," he announced to the chief executive when he called at the state capitol with a band of his tribesmen.

The announcement followed the governor's assurance that he would take steps to secure for the tribe after the expiration of its treaty with the U. S. Government next year, the benefits it has enjoyed under the treaty, including freedom from taxation.

Chief Faw-Faw explained to the governor that "Indian, he no understand taxes. He no like pay, pay all time."

Under the Indian treaties, of which the Otoe agreement was a pattern, tribal affairs were largely left in the hands of the federal government, and the Indians have led lives free from many worries, as wards of the United States. An interpreter explained to the governor that the Otoe fear their lack of experience in managing their affairs should the government's guiding hand be withdrawn. They requested that the legislature memorialize congress on the subject, but the governor suggested he would write to Oklahoma representatives at Washington to discuss the treaty with the Indian commissioner.

Mussolini Urges Former Veterans to Help Country

ROME.—"The Fascist government needs 200,000 muskets to keep all the rascals in their places," said Premier Mussolini to a delegation of the Italian Arditi, or "Daredevils," as they are sometimes called, in a recent address.

"I am counting on all the ex-service men, and therefore on the Arditi, who have been our best fighters," continued the Premier. "I am sure almost all of you will join the voluntary militia. We need the regular army to be prepared for the defense of the nation, for this is its purpose, we need the police force in order to protect ourselves against lawbreakers. The Fascist government also has need of 200,000 muskets to keep all the rascals in their places."

"I hope, therefore," continued the Fascist chief, "to see you in the front rank of the Fascist legions, which are a magnificent reserve of courage, of power and of faith, and on which not only the government but the whole nation can surely count. I thank you, and beg you to consider me, as head of the government a daredevil who does not stop before any obstacle, and overcomes all obstacles if it be necessary and required by the supreme interests of the nation."

WAR ON WEEVIL IS STATE PLAN

Instructors to Cover State in Series of Talks on Weevil Fight.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—A state-wide anti-boll weevil campaign is under way this week and will continue through the month, with special instructors visiting all towns and cities in the cotton belt of Oklahoma on scheduled speaking tours, according to John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture.

According to Whitehurst all agricultural agencies of the state and nation are united in the campaign. The state board of Agriculture and Mechanical college and the federal department of agriculture are taking the lead, he said, the speakers having been drawn from all three sources.

The drive opened at Muskogee, Oklahoma City, Pauls Valley and Shawnee simultaneously. Separate groups of speakers visited each of these places and held meetings at which the necessity of fighting the boll weevil was pointed out, and planters instructed in the successful growing of cotton under boll weevil conditions.

For the campaign the state has been divided into five sections, and speakers assigned to each, said the board president. The first district comprises Muskogee, Haskell, LeFlore, Sequoyah, Wagoner and Okmulgee counties, and meetings in that group will end Saturday at Okmulgee. The speakers were to be E. E. Schroll, A. F. Houston and C. L. Stealey.

The second group consists of Pottawatomie, Seminole, Hughes, Okfusgee, McIntosh, Pottsburg, Latimer, Atoka, Coal and Pontotoc counties. The speakers assigned were J. A. Evans of Washington, T. A. Milstead, J. N. Roach, R. W. Vaughn and Dean M. A. Beason of A. ad M. College. Meetings were to be held at Shawnee, Wewoka, Holdenville, Weleetka, Okemah, Eufaula, McAlester, Wilburton, Atoka, Coalgate and Ada, in succession.

The third district meetings were to be at the following points: Pauls Valley in Garvin county, Ardmore, Carter county, Marietta, Johnson county, Madill, Marshall county, Durant, Bryan county, Idabel, McCurtain county, Hugo, Choctaw county, Antlers, Pushmataha county. Speakers assigned were C. W. Callerman, G. C. Gibbons and R. C. Lennedy.

Oklahoma City for Oklahoma county, Purcell for McClain and Cleveland counties, Chickasha for Grady county, Duncan for Stephens county and Waurika for Jefferson county were meeting points for the fourth district, in which speakers assigned were E. A. Miller and W. R. Shelton.

The campaign is scheduled to begin March 20 in the fifth district, and speakers will be E. E. Schroll, B. F. Markland and C. L. Stealey, it was announced. The meetings are scheduled as follows: Bristow, Creek county, March 20; Chandler, Lincoln county, March 21; Guthrie, Logan county, March 22; Ripley, Payne county, March 23.

Germany Learning That Saving Mark is Losing Bargain

(By the Associated Press)

HAMBURG—Germans have slowly learned that it is unwise to save marks while they are falling so rapidly in value. Even servants earning very small wages have adopted the plan of converting their money immediately into something which has real value. Such persons seldom have enough to buy foreign money, so they acquire articles which will always be in demand. Furthermore, they usually have these purchases made in some small town, where prices are lower than in the great centers which know more about international exchange operations.

The cook in one American family in Hamburg recently told her mistress she was investing her earnings in furniture, which she had ordered a cabinet-maker in her native village to manufacture. She had bought the wood at a bargain, and the man was doing the work very cheaply in his spare time.

While the cook was not betrothed, and did not know that she would marry, she explained to her mistress that her chances will be much brighter when it became known that she could furnish a home attractively.

NORTHLAND WILL SOON BECOME FILMLAND; PRODUCERS NOW SEEKING LIKELY LOCATIONS

Movie audiences have set their seal of approval upon Canadian-made films; the romance of the Northland has gripped public fancy and a film that depicts the beauty, the romance or a tragedy of the north is sure to show to packed houses. But audiences insist that the films shall be Canadian-made as well as Canadian-laid. The 1923 audience is a wise one and can detect a faked locale in short order.

Movie producers know that they must please their public and so they are busy reading script of Canadian photo plays and looking for suitable locations. In these quests they meet with strange revelations that upset common beliefs; for instance, when "Strongheart" was filmed in Canada, the producers had to import wolves, there being none available in the wilds where the play was filmed. Again, the popular fallacy that Indians are savages, is given the lie by the well educated Redskins who live like their white neighbors, although they can be persuaded to lend themselves and their tribal accoutrements to the making of movies.

The B. P. O. E. of Banff recently entertained the members of the Trimble-Murfin Production Company, which is spending several months at Banff making a Canadian Rockies screen play.

Several eastern producers have movie outfits on location at various winter sport centers in Canada, such as Montreal, Quebec and St. Jovite. They also make it a point to chronicle with their cameras all the skating, hockey, ski-jumping and dog derby events. These play an important part in weekly tropical reviews, being of educational as well as entertaining value.

The initial scenes of "A High Seas Honeymoon" were shot on the S. S. Empress of Australia as she sailed from Vancouver on January 19th, additional scenes to be made en voyage. A number of scenes were made in Vancouver.

among the trackmen who were not citizens dropped from 90 per cent to 27 per cent.

The educational work proved such a success that it is being continued.

Tut and Legislature
Disturbers of the dead, should turn their eyes to Oklahoma City and view the antics of our wise men of the last lap of their spree.

Curio seekers, who aroused the olive oil incense in old Tut's tomb, could find relics of antiquity buried daily in the records of the legislature.

But events, occurring recently will present immediate explorations by relic seekers for there is the taxation problem—people will have no cause for explorations on that subject although it is somewhat of a buried proposition.

Proponents of the Legion bonus are strong for immediate evacuation on their compensation measure. It is sinking lower into oblivion than one of Tut's wives.

And there is the woman of the thing. They have started out now to rule and the poor male has only time to play before finally stepping down and out. In the mysterious future, the dusty records of the present will be unearthed and female legislators will search for the discussion on the Darwin theory, that being one of the most important matters in that ink-well period of Oklahoma history.

The one outstanding thing about an operetta (see Webster) is that one is obliged to remain through the entire presentation to determine its exact worth.

Another feature is that an audience, very seldom understands the physical and mental strain prevalent on the stage as well.

In a recent operetta (musical comedy), depicting scenes on a south sea isle, the hero rushed out of a cave to find the heroine seated on a hand embroidered pillow on a bench manufactured at Evansville, Indiana, and then the father rushed out from behind a clump of weeds, and tried to show parental wrath in sixteen-year-old attire. The climax was reached when a crew of Uncle Sam's brave sailors rushed out after being painted like Apaches and tried to find eight frail pirates hiding behind three flour sacks filled with straw.

It has been rumored that the heroine also sang, but patrons farther back than the tenth row will not vouch for this. The orchestra has affirmed this report however and maintains that another song was rendered from the secret folds of the cave and not the roof of the theatre.

Some have been prone to admit that the pirate chief has said on the "phantom ship" and there lost his locker box, used for the purpose of carrying tunes.

WALTON MAY PUT VETO CLUB OVER HEADS OF SOLONS

Failure to Pass Measures of Administration Platform
May Intur Wrath

ANTIS WIN FIGHT

Institution Bills May Bear
Brunt of Executive Wrath of Solons Fight

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—Rumors spreading through the house today that Governor Walton was ready to use his veto power to obtain the passage of administration "program" brought to an issue the final question of the proceedings to be followed by the legislature between now and the final adjournment.

The problem which confronts the legislators when they reconvene Monday is whether to pass the regular supply bills for the biennium and adjourn sine die or whether to hold up final action upon the departmental and general bills and give right of way to the measures sponsored by the administration.

The regular appropriation bills were recently forced to the front in the house by the Stovall-Disney group, displaying the pet bills of the administration.

When it was shown that appropriations in bills for the upkeep of the state and its institutions had reached a total exceeding the estimated revenue for the next two years opponents of the administration program figured that this situation would preclude the possibility of passing such measures as the cement plant bill, the home ownership bill, the warehouse bill and similar proposals, all of which call for large sums.

Walton May Force Hand.—However, word went out today whether official or not that the governor would step in and demand enactment of the entire program or failing in that would force all cards on the table by putting each member on record as either for or against each proposal.

It was rumored even that Governor Walton might veto the entire institutional bill should his program fail to command consideration. It was agreed however that the veto power more probably would be confined to specific institutions if used at all.

The report that the entire institutional bill might be killed by veto was branded as absolutely false at the governor's office. It was said that the governor might veto some sections of the bill but that this was not certain.

Administration Has Hard Row.—The administration, it is admitted, has had hard sledding in both branches of the legislature to date.

The market commission bill, an administration measure, won its way through the house but was rewritten in the senate committee to eliminate almost entirely the features demanded by the committee of 21.

The $2,250,000 free text book bill also passed the house but failed to receive any consideration to date in the upper chamber and house and senate conferees are still at odds over the supreme court commission bill.

On the other hand the Corden warehouse bill carrying $1,250,000 passed the senate but obtained special order status in the house only as a rider to the Disney mortgage bill. The Disney mortgage bill has a clear advantage over the bill written by the committee of 21.

The opposition in the house has succeeded in keeping back such measures as the full-crew bill and finally gained enough strength yesterday to unhorse the powerful steering committee which has been given charge of the calendar.

Economy Group Set Back.—A setback was given the group which has been demanding economy when the house today voted down a resolution by W. E. Gibson expressing the sense of the house that appropriations be prorated to keep the total down to $25,500,000.

The power of governor to nullify appropriations for institutions is a threat which must be considered by all those inclined to fight the administration program. Whether or not Governor Walton intends to or would swing the veto club on the heads of recalcitrant members the possibility is ever present and furnished cause for the solons to reflect.

Bills passed by the legislature need not be signed by the executive until after the legislators leave Oklahoma City so if Walton holds the institutional bill for his approved after adjournment there (Continued on Page Five)

Rumors Search out Petting Parties

Is there an organization of men or women here intent on breaking up petting parties on the roads near Ada? That is a question a reporter has heard asked many times on the streets in the last few weeks. All attempts to get more than rumors proved fruitless. No victims of any of the organizations nightly pilgrimages would admit they were victims have been found.

As rumor has it, not many nights ago this band of mysterious persons were looking over the roads east of the city. Not far on the Colbert road a car was found parked. The curtains were up and apparently the car was unoccupied. Close observation, however, revealed the presence of a couple of petters in the rear seat. As the story goes, the male of the species in double quick time had the car engine under way and the car headed towards the bright lights of North Mississippi.

On or about the same night near the Homer schoolhouse two more members of the genus homo of opposite sexes were adept in making their car "get off the pike."

One male with whom rumor connects one or more petting parties confidentially says the petters and pettees have had to resort to other ways of avoiding the eyes of spying humanity than stopping along the highways. Just what other ways are being used, he steadfastly refused to say, signifying with a flash of the eye that it is some way.

Every effort to learn who the vigilantes are was fruitless. Some of the rumors say they are men and other say they are women. One story is to the effect that some married women, believing their husbands are straying from the straight and narrow way, have taken this means of running the prodigals home. Another story, equally as often heard, is that the organization is composed of men who have more or less the same thoughts about their wives. Believe as you like. These are the rumors.

Senator Leaves New York
On First Trip Across Atlantic

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California today brushed politics and potential presidential odds of his way and started on his first voyage across the Atlantic.

Accompanying Senator Johnson were Mrs. Johnson and their son Hiram W. Jr., and right across from them on the steamship George Washington was Alexander P. Moore of Pittsburgh, newly appointed ambassador to Spain.

"I hope I don't get seasick," said the senator, eyeing the fruits and scallions the flowers which filled his suit. "I'm a landlubber. I have never been to sea before."

Then Ambassador Moore assured him that he had voyaged on the George Washington before and that she rode smoothly. Senator Johnson said he did not know where he would go.

"I have not had a rest for twenty years and I think it is time. I had a little enjoyment. I'm 55 years old and don't feel so bad."

(By the Associated Press)
ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 10.—William Z. Foster, alleged leader of the communist party and underground representative in America of the Third International of Moscow, will go on trial in circuit court here Monday charged with violation of the Michigan laws against criminal syndicalism.

Walsh of New York, attorney for the defense of Foster and others arrested after Michigan and federal authorities raided an alleged convention of the communist party held in the lonely sand dune country twenty miles south of St. Joseph, last August.

Twenty-two persons have been awaiting trial as a result of the raid but the state elected to try Foster first.

Negro Desperado Sought by Posse Killed in Chase

(By the Associated Press)

The negro's death ended a two-day chase within a hundred yards of the place where he attempted to wipe out an entire family because he had been caught stealing from a corn crib.

POINCARÉ MEETS WITH PREMIER OF BELGIUM

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS, March 10.—Premier Poincaré plans to leave for Brussels Monday morning for a conference with Premier Theunis of Belgium.

The principal object of the premier's interview is to settle questions of technical character regarding operation in occupied Germany but they will also give attention to the political aspects of the situation and the event of negotiations with Germany.

The premiers will confer regarding the organization of the expected conference with German with special reference to the projected demand from Berlin that the German delegates be admitted to the meeting on equal footing with the allies and that all allies be represented.

POLICE LOOK FOR ILLINOIS PRIEST

Authorities Believe Rector Met Foul Play While In St. Louis

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, March 10.—Police today announced that they have been conducting a search since Thursday for Reverend Father John A. Vranick, 28 years old, rector of Sacred Heart Catholic church at Virden, Illinois, who was last seen in St. Louis Monday afternoon, but that they had discovered only one clue—the finding of the automobile in which the priest had driven the 85 miles to St. Louis.

The automobile was found abandoned last Tuesday in a business district on the lower Mississippi front late yesterday. The police ascertained definitely that it was the priest's.

Father Vranick came to St. Louis, it was learned, to make purchases for a church bazaar and arrived with a message to the Reverend Father W. L. Linck, rector of the Holy Trinity Slovak Catholic church here for a meeting to be held at his own church next week. He visited Father Linck's rectory last Monday but as the latter was away he left the message. He then made purchases at several local mercantile establishments.

Police stated that several residents of Virden came here several days ago and made inquiries about the priest's whereabouts, saying they had not returned to Virden although his mother expected him last Monday night.

Police express the theory that Father Vranick may have met with foul play in Illinois and that the automobile was driven back into the Missouri side of the river to obscure possible clues. Another theory is that he may have taken ill and gone to a hospital. All local hospitals are being canvassed by the police.

COMPRESS TO BE BUILT HERE SOON

Arrangements Completed for Construction of Modern Plant at Ada

A compress for Ada this fall is assured, according to an announcement of J. H. Bellis, president, and A. D. Stubbfield, secretary of the Peoples Compress Company of Cushing. One will move here to take care of the local plant.

Mr. Bellis announces that his company will erect a modern press and have enough shed room to take care of every bale of cotton coming to the compress. Construction work is to begin within the next two or three weeks.

The plant, according to present arrangements, will be erected on the industrial site owned by the Chamber of Commerce. President C. E. Cunniff of the Chamber went over the ground with Messrs. Bellis and Stubbfield late Friday evening, and they expressed themselves as being highly pleased with it.

This site is served by a joint track of all three railroads, and there is no shipping charge in taking cars from one road to another. While this will be a bit further from the city than the old compress, it is nearer than the press at many other places, it is explained.

All of the cotton shippers and practically all of the cotton buyers have signed an agreement to patronize the new compress. This will mean the compress will have plenty of cotton to run the season on. The contract holds good for at least two years.

The cotton men of this section are rejoicing over the successful landing of a compress and say it will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to the city.

College Musicians Return After Tour Over this District

The East Central College band returned Saturday from a two weeks tour of the district, being enthusiastically received at every place. Not only the band itself proved popular, but the solos and the selections by the brass quartet, the male quartet and the sextet were well received, according to Ralph Warner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was with the band boys part of the trip.

The band will give a home coming concert at College auditorium Tuesday evening. Forecasts are that this will be one of the most enjoyable entertainments in the history of the school. The boys are anxious to see if their efforts at home are appreciated as much as they are away from home.

DECISION MADE ON LEGISLATIVE DAY AFTER ROW

Tangle Over Session of Legislature Causes Much Argument.

ELAM LAUDS WALTON

Stovall Warns Legislature to Draw Line Now on Expenditures.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—A "legislative day" is a day when both houses of the legislature are in session where a $6 a day pay is concerned but laws can't be made in a day on which either house is in session.

This in substance was ruled by the chairman of the house today.

John F. Garner of Johnson county questioned the legality of bills passed today with the senate not in session, since the house adjourned yesterday having construed a "legislative day" to mean a day on which both houses meet.

The chair, however, decided that any action of the house on a day when the senate was taking a rest would be legal.

To allow legislators to draw regularly their $6 a day pay after the expiration of the regular 60-day term it was decided yesterday that a "legislative day" was a day in which both the senate and house held session.

A resolution to limit appropriations for the session to $25,500,000 was voted down by the house.

Debate on the resolution covered a wide range. J. B. Phillips of Cleveland threw a challenge to the 242 minute men and Richard Elam of Pawhuska lauded Governor Walton as the "greatest governor Oklahoma has ever had."

"Never has a governor so grown into the hearts of the people as has our present governor," declared Elam. "He is the head of the party and our governor and we should stand with him. I say we must listen more to what he wants and I for one am going down the line with him."

D. A. Stovall of Choctaw warned that it was time to begin to draw a line on expenditures.

FRED DENNIS WANTED FOR ANOTHER CHARGE

(By the Associated Press)
STILLWATER, Okla., March 10.—Warrants for the arrest of Fred Dennis, missing former state banking commissioner, L. Martin, former president of the defunct Yale state bank, and J. C. Galloway, Oklahoma City oil man, were issued today by county judge Brown Moore at the request of the county attorney.

The three men are charged with having willfully misappropriated and abstracted $22,500 from the Yale bank with intent to defraud.

The warrants were placed in the hands of the sheriff.

It is alleged that Galloway signed a note for $22,500 which was paid by Martin and held in the Yale bank. Martin received $1000 for the deal, the information charges. The remainder of the money went to Fred Dennis, the county attorney charged.

The Yale state bank closed in August, 1921.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The federal farm loan board at the conclusion today of a three day conference with the federal bank bank presidents, gave assurance that the farmers of the country will have the benefit of the government's financial aid authorized in the recent enactment of the rural credits legislation by the time the spring planting begins. ## Oil Driller Burned to Death When Car Ignites Oil Pool

(By the Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, March 10.—J. Logan, 28, an oil well driller, was reported tonight dying of burns received today when he drove an automobile into a lake of burning oil which had formed on a boulevard near here, the result of a break in the Union Company's oil line.

About 800 barrels of oil poured out on the highway when a joint in the line split, officials of the company said and this was ignited by the sparks of the exhaust of a passing truck. While fire fighters were battling with the flames, Logan is said to have disregarded warnings and attempted to speed his machine through the flames.

Patriarch of Congress Now In Retirement

(By the Associated Press)
DANVILLE, Ill., March 10.—Uncle Joe Cannon, patriarch of congress, was under his own roof tree here today resting since his definite retirement from public service since he went to Washington during the administration President Grant.

Only casual nods met the veteran statesman, tired and pale, walking slowly on the arm of a friend, although none the less jauntily, for all his years, on leaving the train which brought him from Chicago on the second lap of his journey home.

In deference to Uncle Joe's wishes Danville did not turn out with bands and decorated automobiles to welcome him, but just as soon as he is rested citizens will follow out their plans to blow the lid off the town to shown him what the home folks think of him.

On his triumphant retirement the aged legislator did not have time for sentimentality, but kept the party merry with quips and stories.

GAS FUMES END ADA GIRL'S LIFE

Ila Mae Smith Asphyxiated
By Gas Fumes in Family Bathroom.

Ila Mae Smith was asphyxiated by gas fumes from a heater in the bathroom of the family home Saturday morning. According to the family she went to take a bath about nine o'clock. Some minutes afterward her mother became concerned at not hearing any sound from the bathroom and called to her daughter. Receiving no reply she gave the alarm and the door was broken in. The body of the young girl was in the tub and the strong fumes of gas escaping from the stove told the tragic story of her death.

It was apparent that she had been overcome and had sunk unconscious into the water. Physicians were hastily summoned and a lungmotor used for some time in an effort to restore respiration but to no avail.

Ila Mae was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, 609 West Fifth street. She was born in Ada in June 1909 and had spent her entire life here.

The funeral arrangements had not been fully completed Saturday evening, but it was stated that the services would be held sometime Monday afternoon. Interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Italian Brothers Missing When Bank Shows Big Deficit

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 10.—The three brothers Tisho, who conducted a bank and steamship ticket agent company on Mott street in the heart of New York's "little Italy," disappeared mysteriously today. Immediately the crowd of depositors gathered demanding their savings which were reported to total $500,000 to $2,000,000.

The police took charge of the bank and its affairs pending the result of their search for the missing brothers. After a search of apartments over the bank which were occupied by the brothers, officers reported that clothing was gone and that photographs had been removed from their frames.

A cursory inquiry by the police indicated that the bank depositors numbered about 40,000.

EXAMINERS PLAN BANK REOPENING OF DEATH BANK

Institution to be Reorganized
After Killing of President

TO PROBE DEATH

Chicago Bank to Have Been Reinforced by Loans of Other Banks.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 10.—State bank examiners today planned the reorganization of the Loran Square trust and savings bank to permit it to reopen Monday after being closed today following the finding yesterday of the body of Fred W. Popp, president of the institution, in his automobile on the outskirts of Chicago with a bullet through his head.

A coroner's jury continued its inquiry into Popp's death when the police said they would need more time to investigate and believe that the death may have been due to murder instead of suicide.

Ward B. Whitlock, assistant state bank examiner at Springfield, said that plans were under way to permit it to open Monday without loss to depositors and creditors. Subscriptions by other banks for sufficient funds by buying stock to meet any deficiencies is the plan considered.

Shortage Reported

Reports of shortage in bank funds were current as the bank examiners proceeded to an examination of the books today. Some reports were to the effect that the shortages aggregated $750,000 but the examiners issued no statement. Depositors who came to the bank and found it closed expressed more of curiosity than anxiety as a general rule.

Paul Popp, cashier of the bank and son of the dead president, explained to investigators that he had given the cancelled checks to his father prior to his departure for California two months ago. He said that the $61,000 were drawn on his own personal account at the Republican National Bank at St. Louis.

"It was my own personal account," he said. "I don't wish to talk about that."

The cashier said that the St. Louis bank was not a correspondent for the local trust and savings bank.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—There is nothing irregular in connection with the $61,000 in cancelled checks found on the person of Fred W. Popp, Chicago banker, and drawn on the Republican National bank of St. Louis, J. A. Lewis, president of the local institution stated today.

The checks were drawn on the personal account of his son, Paul W. Popp, and the account has never been overdrawn, Mr. Lewis amplified.

"Paul Popp is a friend of mine," Lewis stated, "and last spring he opened a charge account with this bank. From time to time he made additional deposits and there was always a sufficient amount in deposit to cover checks drawn against the account. There is still a balance on hand and nothing irregular whatever."

Mr. Lewis said that Paul Popp stopped over in St. Louis last Thursday en route to Chicago from California, but that they merely discussed general business conditions.

RED BLUFF, Cal., March 10.—A ne wrcater broke out on the east side of Lassen peak in the extreme northern part of California today, according to reports received here tonight from mountain scouts. The volcano showed unusual activity, emitting dust and smoke, which obscure the crater from view.

Prof. J. O. Wood of the College did the scouts of Francis a mighty good turn this week when he took his fine radio set over there and gave a program for their benefit. Prof. Cunningham of the schools there gave it much publicity and the scout boys did their share and so the crowd was a good one and the boys realized $7.15 from it. Mr. Nathan Levin kindly took us over there in his car and on our way back he related some very amusing incidents connected with the first scout trip taken out of Ada to Oklahoma City when the boys hiked over there under the leadership of Mr. T. O. Cullins. He said that Mr. Cullins didn't say anything at all about a hike back.

Mr. Milam, coach at the College, has been giving the scout troops some fine talks on preparing for athletic meets.

Mr. John Zimmerman teacher at the College addressed the scouts of troop Nos. 4 and 5 on conservation, Thursday night.

Prof. Tom McCormick of the College gave the scouts of Troop No. 7 some instruction on poultry keeping. Carl Marsh brought two of his hens along for Prof. McCormick to show the scouts how to judge a good hen. Owen Lizard and Chickadee Floyd were in for having a chicken roast right away since it was not their pet hen.

Troop No. 3 certainly had a fine program at their meeting. Floyd Williams as senior patrol leader certainly handles that troop in fine shape and Scoutmaster Erving Bonner had a well outlined program which was much enjoyed by the parents present. Troop No. 3 has 32 scouts now. They have secured more new scouts than any other troop in town. Prof. Oscar Kimbrough has been present at several meetings lately and he has given the boys much help.

Oh Boy, the cats have arrived, thanks to the Shriners. So have the mattresses and now with a little hay in the mattresses or straw slips the cats will be very comfortable. Even Prof. Braishaw says that he wants to go to the Lodge right away now. Troop No. 7 says that it is their time to warm the mattresses out there. We will order some heavy screens for the windows soon and make a few other repairs and then things will be mighty comfortable out there.

Mr. J. C. Hynds, troop committeeman of troop No. 2 visited that troop last week. That is just the thing which we hope every troop committeeman will do.

Next week we will prepare our flower beds in the City Park. Next week we will also check up on the grades of all the scouts in the city schools and by the end of the month we will know which scout in each Sunday school in Ada won the "Life of Christ" examination contest.

What has become of Hubert Laird, Carl Brownell, Clinton Van Curen, and Ralph Marrow, who were going to work on their Eagle Scout badges? Scoutmaster L. J. Crowder and Mr. E. R. Scrubbs, superintendent of the schools at Ada, have planned to take quite a few Roff scouts to Turner Park for an over night hike. Sounds mighty good doesn't it scouts?

Prof. J. O. Wood of the College will give a radio concert at Center for the benefit of a scout organization there. It will be given on Monday evening. We expect to give but one or two more concerts this year. One will be given at Lulu if the way be clear and one at Colbert school house if the way be clear. Six scouts of Irving school helped to put the eighteen cats out at the Lodge. We took also the bedding and the hay.

Sam Binkham, Ora Russell, Clinton Johnson, Carl Linsstrom, Jim Sullivan, Bonnie Fryer, Newman Edristen, Floyd Carter, are the new scouts who have just joined the Irving school troop.

LISTENING AT JESUS'S FEET.
By
Dr. G. H. Crotcher.
Luke 10:39
"And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at the Lord's feet and heard his word."

The family at Bethany was highly favored by being permitted to entertain our Lord so often. No doubt they all appreciated it, but Mary made the wisest use of it. Martha sought to serve her Lord with her very best.

Mary was full of love for Jesus, as we know by her anointing him and, therefore, she also was serving him with her very best. She did so by "listening to his word." Our Lord commended her method of service. It will be safe, therefore, for us to follow her example.

HERE WE SEE:
I. LOVE LISTENING—"which also sat at Jesus' feet."

When the shades of night come on, the members of the family are gathered, rest and commune, forgetting all care, oblivious to the outside world, and of time itself.

Like Mary, we should feel quite at home with Jesus. We should be free from worldly care.

Dr. Chalmers complained: "I am hustled out of my spirituality."

We should sweetly enjoy the happy leisure, which Jesus provides us as we muse upon the rest-giving theme which he reveals so clearly and make so true to us.

His work for us finished, Accepted, Abidingly Effectual with Priceless Blessings.

"He that spared not his own son but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not also, with him, freely give us all things?" Romans 8:32.

Mary had time to loiter at the feet of Jesus in a home where others were numbered.

Shall WE find time?

II. LOVE IN LOWLINESS
"at Jesus's feet."

Bishop Hall said: "Whether shall we praise more Mary's humility or her docility? I do not see her take a stool and sit by him, or a chair and sit above him; but, as desiring to show her heart was so lowly as her knees, she sits at his feet. She was lowly set and richly warmed with His heavenly beams, the greater submission the more grace.

If there be one hollow, in the valley, lower than another, thither the water gathers."

In her lowliness, let each one personally copy Mary.

Let ME be—

1. A PENITENT, which is an acknowledgment of my Unworthiness.

2. A DISCIPLE,
which is a Confession of my Ignorance.

3. A RECEIVER,
which is an admission of my Emptiness.

This posture befits me when I think of what I WAS, what I AM, what I MUST BE, what My Lord IS, and what He is to ME.

III. LOVE LISTENING—
"And heard His word."

The verb is imperfect, hence should be translated "Continued Listening."

Jay said: "Behold Mary, all Reverence, all Attention, all Composure, feeding on the Doctrine of ETERNAL LIFE—she sat at Jesus's feet. She wisely and zealously improved the opportunity given her for the good of her soul. This is my Summer, my Harvest; let me redeem the time."

Sacred Song:
"At the feet of Jesus,
Listening to His word;
Learning wisdom's lesson,
From her loving Lord,
Mary, led by Heavenly grace,
Chose the meek disciple's place."

At the feet of Jesus
Is the place for me;
There an humble learner,
Would I choose to be."

She could not have heard, if she had not been listening, and lowly, and listening at His feet.

Let us hear the Love-word; "Harken O daughter, and consider," Psalms 45:10.

IV. LOVE LAUGHING—

She had obtained her Lord. His Love, His Presence, His Word, His Fellowship, and she sat there in FULL ENJOYMENT, to delight her soul with what she had so joyfully lighted upon.

Her Lord's promise assured her that she should not lose the GOOD part which she had chosen.

O, to be more with Jesus.
To HEAR Him more.
To LOVE Him more.
To ABIDE with Him.

I've Found a Friend.

I've found a Friend, oh, such a Friend.
He loved me ere I knew him;
He drew me with the cords of love,
And thus He bound me to him.
And round my heart still closely twine
Those ties which naught can sever,
For I am His, and He is mine,
For-ever and for-ever.

I've found a Friend, oh, such a Friend!

So kind, and true, and tender,
So wise a Counsellor and Guide,
So mighty a Defender!
From Him, who loves me now so well,
What power my soul can sever?
Shall life or death, or earth or hell?
No; I am His for-ever.

The Young Matrons Circle of the First Christian Church met with Mrs. M. E. Qualls Monday March 5th in regular session. After the scripture lesson read by Mrs. A. C. Chaney, plans were made for a chicken pie dinner Wednesday, March 21, also to hold an Easter egg and food sale on the Saturday before Easter. The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. W. White, 924 East Main street. All members are urged to be present.

NOTICE WOMEN'S CHORAL CLUB.

WILLARD SCHOOL HOLDS SUCCESSFUL PIE SALE.
The Willard school Parent-Teachers association held a very successful pie sale and feast at the school building on Friday evening.

Misses Lady Percy Shaw and Lucy Anderson gave delightful readings, and in a popularity contest the winner, Miss Virginia Lee Griffith was presented with a beautiful trimmed box containing a prize pie.

Honest Bill Newton as pie auctioneer added new honors to his list of accomplishments as an entertainer, and got the high dollar for every pie offered.

Nearly $30.00 was realized from the sale of about fifty pies, which will be used to purchase books for the school library.

A. T. TRIMM CELEBRATES SIXTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY.
A. T. Trimm, one of our most highly respected citizens, who resides two miles south of town on the Byrd's Mill road, was the recipient of hearty congratulations by his friends and neighbors on the occasion of his sixty-eighth birthday March 8. Of this event one who was present writes as follows:

"Mr. Albert T. Trimm celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday last Thursday, March 8. It was Mrs. Trimm who celebrated. She gave a big dinner in his honor and all his neighbors were seated around the board. The table had been extended its full length and a smaller table had been added unto so you see it was quite a banquet. The table was loaded with good things. The market, the home-cannery, and the well known farm smoke-house were all well represented. It is needless to say that we ate. We did some eating. Mrs. Trimm is an excellent cook. The house was made gay with bowls of narcissus and violets.

Mr. Trimm is a native of Alabama and lived in Arkansas and Texas before coming to Oklahoma in an early day. The Trimm family made their home near Ada for the past 12 years with the exception of two spent at Los Angeles, California."

The federal prohibition bureau is asking for an appropriation of $100,000 to make a census of drug addicts in this country.

FARMERS TAKING MARKET BY RADIO

Wide Use of Radio on Market Reports is Practical Over Nation.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Farmers are making use of the radio in obtaining market reports. Nationwide, practical use of these reports sent broadcast by the United States Department of Agriculture is indicated in a survey just completed. Nearly 50 per cent of the hundreds of returns to an inquiry sent out by radio were from farmers who had radio receiving equipment. The remainder of the returns were from grain dealers, mill elevators, banks, telephone companies, cooperative organizations, farm bureaus and other agencies which disseminate the reports among large groups of farmers.

Greatest interest was shown in the grain market reports, which inform farmers of wheat, corn and oats prices at the leading grain markets. Next in importance came the live-stock reports of prices and movements at the principal live-stock markets of the country. The weather reports came next, followed by reports on poultry products, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, hay, cotton and other farm crops.

Radio had developed more rapidly in the middle west in the corn, wheat and livestock growing regions than in other farm sections, the survey shows. Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa lead in number of responses. Many farmers in this territory own radio equipment and prize the practical value of the service. In other sections farmers congregate at central points to get the radio reports, but an increasing disposition toward installation of sets for private use is indicated.

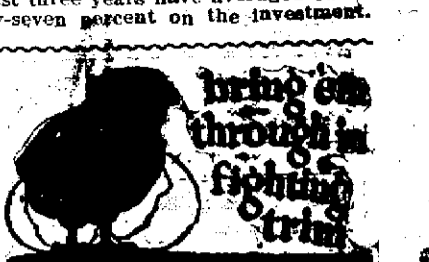

This is the first survey made by the department to determine how widely its radio market reports are being received and used by farmers, and affords much valuable information for developing the service to the maximum of efficiency. It has been known in a general way that the service has been of value to producers and other agricultural interests in the marketing of crops and to consumers through the regulating of market supplies, but definite data were not available until developed by the present survey.

The department practically covers the country with its radio market news and farmers everywhere are using the service to aid them in conducting the business end of their industry. In the replies numerous farmers gave instances of specific savings resulting from use of the information, one farmer declaring that he regarded radio as a "direct gift from God." Numerous general stores and banks in small towns say that establishment of their places of business as a central point for receiving the reports had resulted in tremendously increased business in many directions. The service has had far-reaching results other than removing the isolation which surrounds rural dwellers by reason of their location from centers of activity, and the bringing of vital market data to farmers with almost immeasurable speed.

The survey shows there are now few places in rural districts where people congregate even in small groups that are without the benefits of radio. Agricultural leaders see in this the development of a true community spirit which forms a large part of the base of agricultural prosperity. The Department of Agriculture is much gratified at the popularity and practical value of the radio market news and is now making plans for the further development and utilization of the service.

The Treadmill

Did you ever see a piece of machinery operated by power derived from a treadmill? A heavy animal, usually a horse or an ox upon a moving platform ever trudging, working, slaving; day after day, month after month, year after year. True that the effort thus expended furnishes power but—

The treadmill idea, as a power unit, has long been antedated by the achievements of modern mechanical science.

But there are many people whose daily life is much upon the plan of the treadmill, they are not lacking in effort—the effort lacks proper direction.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WITHHOLD NOT GOOD:—Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it.—Proverbs 3:27.

FINANCING THE FARMER.

Because the farm credit bill passed shortly before congress adjourned is a departure from other relief measures that have been in force since the war, its operation and its effect on the present banking system will be watched closely. The bill includes what are believed to be the best features of several proposed plans, and the arguments against it are purely in the realm of probabilities. The least benefits derived will be the lessons of experience in governmental financing. There is no doubt on the other hand that it will make credit sources more available to agricultural interests.

The bill creates twelve intermediate credit banks, to be officered and directed by the federal land banks. These banks will have a capital of $5,000,000 each, subscribe for by the secretary of the treasury. They are authorized to make loans on livestock and warehouse receipts up to 75 per cent of their value. The government is to be reimbursed through the return of one-half the net earnings of the intermediate banks, so that in the end its money will be returned while ownership of the banks is retained. The formation of private corporations to deal in agricultural paper, under general supervision of the government, is also permitted.

The farmer always has difficulty in obtaining access to credit facilities comparable to those depended on by other industries. It is this state of affairs which the bill strives to eliminate.

Opponents of the plan say it will give the farmer too much credit, as well as interfering with the well established banking system. There is no definite evidence, however, that this will be the case, and even if there were, the damage done would be temporary. Farm credits are necessary to industry at large as well as the farmer, and there is no reason for intolerant attitudes toward the plan which the majority adopts and enforces.—Kansas City Journal.

BOOTLEG.

It's costing over 15 million dollars a year to enforce prohibition. This is shown by figures furnished to Congress. That's getting off cheaply, for the nation, considering the sum that used to be rung up on the barroom cash register.

One of these days there may be a national referendum on prohibition, probably at a presidential election though the chances are at least two-to-one against. The election would be decided by the wets who at last minute might change their mind and vote dry. The key to liquor sentiment is in the commonly heard expression: "Glad my boy and the rest of the rising generation won't be able to get the stuff."—Ardmoreite.

Although it will be more than a month until the Oklahoma City trade boosters will be in Ada on the annual excursion, their Ada friends are already looking forward with pleasure to their visit. All of us have good friends among the business men of Oklahoma City, and it is a pleasure to have them drop in on us occasionally. These excursions have done much to create and cement a cordial feeling between the state metropolis and outside towns, for the Oklahoma City boosters are bully good fellows.

The Holdenville Democrat calls attention to the fact that if the legislature passes he bill creating a supreme court commissioners we shall have almost one appellate judge for every district judge in the state, since the present supreme court has nine members and criminal court of appeals three. There are 40 district judges and with 30 judges to pass on the matters coming from the lower courts the wheels of justice should be well greased.

The wife of Dr. Cook, the man of North Pole notoriety some years ago stuck to him when the rest of the world turned against him and denounced him after his claims to have reached the Pole were declared all humbug. However, she has now secured a divorce. Is it possible that she finally arrived at the conclusion the world reached several years ago?

A community cannot follow the example of the oyster and remain stationary. The oyster gains in size but the town does not. The town shrinks up unless it is on the hustle all the time and some other place gets the things that it might have had.

SHERMAN TAUGHT IN SOUTH, SHOWN

Civil War Veteran Headed Southern School Before Outbreak of War.

(By the Associated Press)
BATON ROUGE, La., March 7.—Launching of preparations for the annual reunion of the United States Confederate Veterans to be held in New Orleans in April has recalled to Louisiana historians an interesting fact in connection with one of the outstanding figures of the Civil war which is known to few persons of the present generation. General William Tecumseh Sherman, who headed the "march to the sea" through Georgia, resigned as head of a southern educational institution in 1861 to tender his services to Ohio, his native state. There, in Garis Hall, at Louisiana State University here, an oil painting of General Sherman, who was first superintendent of the old Louisiana State Seminary at Alexandria. The Seminary was burned in 1869, was relocated in Baton Rouge and became Louisiana State. General Sherman, who graduated at West Point, attained the rank of Colonel in the army, resigned his commission, and was elected superintendent of the Seminary in 1859. A member of the faculty of the Seminary was Colonel Samuel H. Lockett, Commandant of Cadets, who graduated second in the class of 1859 at West Point. Colonel Lockett was an artist of note and the portrait of General Sherman now in Garis Hall was painted by him at Alexandria. Colonel Lockett, incidentally, enlisted in the service of the Confederacy at the outbreak of the war and as chief engineer with the troops at Vicksburg planned the fortification at that point which withstood for many months the siege of the Federal forces under General Grant. The portrait of General Sherman hung over the mantel in the library of the Seminary at Alexandria and when the building burned it was carried to safety by the cadets. Timber lands in Canada are being mapped with the help of airplanes at a less cost than ground work of similar accuracy.

CHAPTER IX

An interrupted siesta.

No man ever had a more elegant and beautiful plunder for his cause than had Dick Gale in Mercedes Castaneda. Nell lay in the hammock, her hands behind her head, with rosy cheeks and arch eyes. Indeed she looked rebellious.

Dick was inclined to be rebellious himself. Belding had kept the rangers in off the line, and therefore Dick had been idle most of the time, and though he tried hard, he had been unable to stay far from Nell's vicinity. He believed she cared for him; but he could not catch her alone long enough to verify his comforting hope. He had long before enlisted the loyal Mercedes in his cause; but in spite of this Nell had been more than a match for them both.

Gale pondered over an idea he had long revolved in mind, and which now suddenly gave place to a decision that made his heart swell and his cheek burn. He went in search of Mrs. Belding, and found her busy in the kitchen.

The relation between Gale and Mrs. Belding had subtly and incomprehensibly changed. He understood her less than when at first he divined an antagonism in her. If such a thing were possible she had retained the antagonism while seeming to yield to some influence that must have been fondness for him. Gale had come to care greatly for Nell's mother. Not only was she the comfort and strength of her home, but also of the inhabitants of Fortson River. Indian, Mexican, American were all the same to her in trouble or illness; and when she was nurse, doctor, peace-maker, helper. She was good and noble, and there was not a child or grownup in Fortson River who did not love and bless her. But Mrs. Belding did not seem happy. She seldom smiled, and never laughed. There was always a soft, sad, hurt look in her eyes. Gale often wondered if there had been other tragedy in her life than the supposed loss of her father in the desert.

Mrs. Belding heard Dick's step as he entered the kitchen, and, looking up, greeted him.

"Mother," began Dick, earnestly. Belding called her that, and so did Ladd and Lash, but it was the first time for Dick. "Mother—I want to speak to you."

The only indication Mrs. Belding gave of being startled was in her eyes, which darkened, shadowed with multiplying thought.

"I love Nell," went on Dick, simply, "and I want you to let me ask her to be my wife."

Mrs. Belding's face blanched to a deathly white. Gale, thinking with surprise and concern that she was going to faint, moved quickly toward her, took her arm.

"Forgive me. I was blunt. . . . But I thought you knew."

"I've known for a long time," replied Mrs. Belding. Her voice was steady, and there was no evidence of agitation except in her pallor. "Then you— you haven't spoken to Nell?"

Dick laughed. "I've been trying to get a chance to tell her. I haven't had it yet. But she knows. I hope. I almost believe Nell cares a little for me."

"I've known that, too, for a long time," said Mrs. Belding, low almost as a whisper.

"You know?" cried Dick, with a glow and rush of feeling. "Mother! You'll give her to me?"

She drew him to the light and looked with strange, piercing intensity into his face. Gale had never dreamed a woman's eyes could hold such a world of thought and feeling. It seemed all the sweetness of life was there, and all the pain.

"Dick Gale, you want my Nell? You love her just as she is—her sweetness—her goodness? Just herself, body and soul? . . . There's nothing could change you—nothing?"

"Dear Mrs. Belding, I love Nell for herself. If she loves me I'll be the happiest of men. There's absolutely nothing that could make any difference in me."

"But your people? Oh, Dick, you come of a proud family. I can tell. You've become a ranger. You love the adventure—the wild life. That won't last. Perhaps you'll settle down to ranching. I know you love the West. But, Dick, there's your family—"

"If you want to know anything about my family, I'll tell you," interrupted Dick, with strong feeling. "I've no secrets about them or myself. My future and happiness are Nell's to make. No one else shall count with me."

"Then, Dick—you may have her. God—bless you—both."

Mrs. Belding's strained face underwent a swift and mobile relaxation, and suddenly she was weeping in strangely mingled happiness and bitterness.

"Why, mother?" Gale could say no more. He put his arm around her. In another moment she had gained command over herself, and, kissing him, she pushed him out of the door.

"There! Go tell her, Dick. . . . And have some spunk about it!"

Gale went thoughtfully back to his room. Then remembering the hope Mrs. Belding had given him, Dick lost his gravity in a flash, and something began to dance and ring within him. He simply could not keep his steps turned from the patio. Every path led there. His blood was throbbing. He hopes mounting, his spirit soaring. "Now for some spunk!" he said, under his breath.

Plainly he meant his merry whistle and his buoyant step to interrupt this first languorous stage of the siesta which the girls always took during the hot hours. But neither girl heard him. Mercedes lay under the pale verde, her beautiful head dark and still upon a cushion. Nell was asleep in the hammock. Her sweet, red lips, with the soft, perfect curve, had always fascinated Dick, and now drew him irresistibly. He had always been consumed with a desire to kiss her, and now he was overwhelmed with his opportunity. It would be a terrible thing to do, but if she did not wake at once—No, he would fight the temptation. That would be more than spunk. It would—She stirred—he feared she would awaken.

He had dropped back erect when she opened her eyes. They were sleepy, yet surprised until she saw him. Then she was wide awake in a second, bewildered, uncertain.

"Where—where?" she asked, slowly. "Large as life?" replied Dick, with unusual gaiety.

"How long have you been here?"

"Just got here this fraction of a second," he replied, lying shamelessly.

"I thought—I was—drowning," she said, and evidently the sound of her voice reassured her.

"Yes, you looked as if you were having pleasant dreams," replied Dick. "So sorry to wake you. I can't see how I came to do it. I was so quiet. Mercedes didn't wake. Well, I'll go and let you have your siesta and dreams."

But he did not move to go. Nell regarded him with curious, speculative eyes.

"Isn't it a lovely day?" queried Dick. "Yesterday was finer, but you didn't notice it."

"Oh, yesterday was somewhere back in the past—the inconsequential past."

Nell's sleepy eyes opened a little wider. She did not know what to make of this changed young man. Dick felt gleeful and tried hard to keep the fact from becoming manifest.

"What's the inconsequential past? You seem remarkably happy today."

"I certainly am happy. Adios, pleasant dreams."

Dick turned away then and left the patio by the opening into the yard. Nell was really sleepy, and when she had fallen asleep again he would return. He walked around for a while. Presently, as if magnet-driven, he retraced his steps to the patio and entered noiselessly.

Nell was now deep in her siesta. She was inert, relaxed, untroubled by dreams. Her hair was damp on her brow.

Nell Was Now Deep in Her Siesta. She Was Inert, Relaxed, Untroubled by Dreams.

Again Nell stirred, and gradually awakened. Her eyes unclosed, humid, shadowy, unconscious. They rested upon Dick for a moment before they became clear and comprehensive. He stood back fully ten feet from her, and to all outside appearances regarded her calmly.

"I've interrupted your siesta again," he said. "Please forgive me, I'll take myself off."

He wandered away, and when it became impossible for him to stay away any longer he returned to the patio.

The instant his glance rested upon Nell's face he divined she was feigning sleep. Dick dropped upon his knees and bent over her. He wanted more than anything he had ever wanted in his life to see if she would keep up that pretense of sleep and let him kiss her. She must have felt his breath, for her hair waved off her brow. Her cheeks were now white. Her breast swelled and sank. He bent down closer—closer. But he must have been maddeningly slow, for as he bent still closer Nell's eyes opened, and he caught a swift purple gleam of eyes as she whirled her head. Then, with a little cry, she rose and fled.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION FOR TEXAS FAILS TO PASS

(By the Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Tex., March 10.—The proposal to submit to the voters of Texas the proposal of calling a constitutional convention was probably finally defeated for the present session when the senate today by a tie vote of 14 to 14 refused to adopt a majority favorable committee report on a house resolution. Senator Dudley, presiding, ruled that the tie vote killed the resolution.

CRUTCHER STIRS AUDIENCE HERE

Subject, "Repent or Perish Meets With Feeling in Meeting Here"

Dr. G. H. Crutcher, the evangelist in the Baptist revival meeting delivered Friday night what was said to be the greatest sermon he has preached thus far in the revival meeting on the subject "Repent or Perish." The speaker, in discussing repentance, said he would first tell what it was not. He said it was not worldly sorrow; that is to say not the kind of sorrow experienced by the man who has violated law and been caught and brought before the courts. He is only sorry that he got caught. It is not remorse of conscience; it is not Godly sorrow. Godly sorrow may lead to repentance but is not repentance within itself. He showed that repentance is to turn away from sin and before a man could repent he must be brought to see the awfulness of sin. Then repentance of the Bible sort would lead him to make restitution for his past in so far as it was possible to do so.

At the close of the service there were several conversions and seven additions to the church. The audience was large last night and a spiritual atmosphere was among the people. Service Saturday morning at ten o'clock was well attended and the preacher brought another great message in the subject, "What does God do with our sins when we accept Christ?" There were two additions at this service. This brings the total additions up to fifteen for the week.

Mr. Randall continues to lead the music in a delightful way. Friday night was High School night and a large number of the students and faculty was present and Mr. Randall had them sing. They did it in a masterly way.

Sunday night will be "Family Night" and the evangelist is anxious to have many entire families present for the service. Monday night will be "Lodge Night" and the lodges are urged to attend either in bodies or as individuals.

WALTON MAY PUT VETO CLUB OVER

would be no chance of overriding his veto afterwards.

As it is claimed the revenues of the state will be sufficient to meet only the regular appropriations, thus leaving nothing to vitalize the Walton program, a proposal has been brought forward for boosting the state income at least another $1,000,000. The proposed new income tax bill would be good for part of this. It was argued. The fate of the measure is uncertain and no other revenue measure has yet been seriously advanced, should the income tax bill fail.

The other alternative would be to cut down the supply bills enough to take care of the appropriations proposed in the administration bills. It is generally agreed that there would be no chance of putting through such a scheme.

Two Boys Held in Mysterious Death of Salisaw Farmer

(By the Associated Press)

SALISAW, March 10.—Mack Dodson, 21, son of William Dodson, wealthy farmer, was shot and instantly killed on the main street of Marble City last night. There were no eye witnesses so far as the authorities have been able to learn.

Roy Sloan and Ted Dissive, both 19, were taken into custody and lodged in jail here pending further examination. While the sheriff and county authorities do not believe the boys are directly connected with the killing, the officers are of the opinion the boys can give information that will solve the mystery. The uncommunicative attitude of the boys caused their arrest, the sheriff said.

Kiwanis Governors Would Stop Booze At National Meet

(By the Associated Press)

What is Christian Stewardship?
What demand does God make on our time?

Why should Christian tithe his income?
How can we get the most out of our natural gifts for God?

According to the Scriptures, what sort of final accounting is required of Christian stewards?

What is the difference between the early Christians and the Christians of today?

Could a "revival of Stewardship" be used to an advantage today?
If so, why?

Why should we thank God for the responsibilities he has given us?
Why should we ask God to help us make use of the talents we possess?

(By the Associated Press)

SAMARA.—Typhus which scourged the Volga Valley and claimed thousands of victims from one end of Russia to the other last year, has appeared this winter only in scattered localities and unless the unexpected occurs, medical authorities consider the danger of epidemics on a vast scale is ended.

There are several areas in the Volga valley and the Ukraine where the 1922 harvests fared poorly, and in these famine already is raging again. Nothing like the terrible conditions of the ghastly winter of 1921-1922 exist, however, and although eight million persons are listed as needing complete or partial support by charity, even the most pessimistic observers do not expect that the horrors will be repeated in the proportions of last year.

THE B. Y. P. U.'s will all meet at 5:30 a. m. usual and all the young people are urged to be present.

The evening service will begin at 7:30 with a great song service led by Mr. Randall. The evangelist will speak on some phase of home life and is anxious to have entire families present. The test will be made to see how many whole families are at the service.

The services will continue during next two weeks however there will be no service Monday morning in order to give the housekeepers an opportunity to catch up with their work and to give the evangelist a little rest. The services will be held as usual Monday evening.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting. It is a joy and a delight to have you come.

Officials Lay Plans for Annual Interscholastic Meet Here; Next Meet Expected to Top Record

Looking forward to the Eleventh Annual Interscholastic meet to be held here April 20 and 21, Ada is preparing to offer her hospitality to the students and athletes of this district of the state.

Every school in this section of the state is expected to be represented at some event taken in with the wide scope of activities, music, reading, spelling and the various athletic contests.

Interscholastic meets in the past have attracted a wide range of schools and have given open competition in the various lines of school endeavor. The meets have increased in attendance and interest from year to year and officials are not exaggerating when they maintain that the 1925 meet will be the greatest in the history of the city.

The meets are held under the auspices of the East Central College and officials of the college have charge of the arrangements for the holding of the various contests.

The Annual Basketball Tournament was formerly held in connection with the meet but increased representation from the schools of the district forced the holding of the two phases of athletics under different heads.

Special interest will be lending to promoting a competitive spirit to the grade as well as high school students, according to officials.

The eleventh annual East Central Interscholastic meet will be held at Ada on the campus of the college, April 20 and 21, 1925. The faculty and student body of East Central extend the heartiest welcome to all visitors whether they be high school or grade school students, teachers or parents.

The general eligibility rules of the Oklahoma High School Athletic association will apply to contestants in the meet. All high schools in the district not under suspension from above association are invited to compete. All grade schools in the district are eligible to enter.

Track and Field Meet.

The meet shall be divided into two sections known as the high school and grade school sections. All contestants who have passed their 15th birthday or who weigh 115 pounds or more shall compete in the high school section. Those under 15 years or 115 pounds may compete in the grade school section unless they are bona fide high school students in which case they shall represent their high school. Grade school contestants represent their county and high school students represent the school in which they are enrolled.

The following events are offered in the high school section: 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes; 800 and mile run; 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles; 12-pound shot, discus; running high and broad jumps; pole vault; mile relay.

The following events are offered in the grade school section: 50, 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes; 120-yard low hurdle; 5-pound shot and discus; running high and broad jumps and pole vault; half mile relay.

Baseball.

A high school baseball tournament will be held during the meet.

Tennis.

A tennis tournament consisting of singles and doubles for high school boys and girls will be held in connection with the meet. Each high school may enter one team of girls and one of boys in singles and doubles. A teachers' tournament for men will be open to all teachers of the district.

READING.

In the reading contests each high school may enter one girl and one boy. Each grade school in the district may enter one girl and one boy, provided that no one more than 14 years or less than 6 may compete. The time used in reading must not be more than 15 minutes.

Music.

In the music contests, the contestants will sing the district selection and one other. The contests and the district selections follow:

Perseverance may Bring Success to George Smith

By NORMAN E. BROWN

It perseverance really does play a major part in bringing success to a man, George Smith ought to get some where this next season, or thereabouts. For this former college star has been persevering long enough to deserve a measure of fame.

Smith is the hurler obtained by Brooklyn a few days ago from the Phillies for Clarence Mitchell, southpaw hurler. Robinson is confident that Smith will deliver for his club and strengthen the pitching staff despite the fact that George has been striving in vain to get going for seven years or more.

Smith was heralded as a coming star eight or nine years ago as a result of his great hurling for Columbia university. They called him a second Marty. The Giant beat out a dozen major and minor league clubs in the race for his services. And then he failed to come through.

He was farmed out to Rochester twice, sent to Cincinnati for a while and was loaned to the Dodgers in the 1916 season. It was his general style and earnestness while the Dodgers had him that season that depressed Manager Robinson who had just borrowed him for an emergency. Robbie kept the hurler in mind.

Smith's main shortcoming seems to be the inability to absorb the line points of the game. He has a good arm, hurls steadily and is reliable. But that alone doesn't get him there, Robinson, during the brief time he and Smith, noticed the new comer's shortcomings, but didn't feel free to change his style or manner while using him then. Now he can try to make over the pitcher. Last season Smith won but five games and lost fourteen for the Phils. He pitched but six complete games. This does not indicate, however, that he couldn't last in the others. He was shoved in many times when the game seemed doomed. He pitched a total of 194 innings and of the 124 runs scored off him 103 were earned, which gave his opponents an average of 4.78 runs a game. This wasn't very impressive. However, it must be said in fairness to Smith that the morale of the Philly team last year was extremely low, as was his percentage.

If Robinson can remedy Smith's shortcomings and swing him into winning form the Brooklyn Dodgers will be strengthened mightily.

George Smith.

Tigers Have no Regret On Records of Year on State Basketball Court

CAGER MEET HAS FINANCIAL LOSS

More Teams Entered in Ada Tournament but Door Receipts Less

Little difference is seen in the financial receipts in the holding of the Annual Basketball Tournament, which closed here last Saturday, according to a financial report of M. Z. Thompson, athletic director.

One of the outstanding features of the financial receipts, show that more miles were travelled by competing teams but less gate receipts taken in during the tournament, which caused the budget for the teams to be lessened.

A total of 6,821 miles were travelled by all teams represented at the tournament, which is a decrease over the 7,206 miles travelled by competing teams on the year previous. A total of $252.99 was taken in at gate receipts this year, which allowed an average of .035 to be paid per mile. A total of $271.56 was taken in the year previous allowing .041042 to be paid per mile.

Several payments were made to competing teams here before they left for their homes after the tournament and others were mailed on the following Monday.

Following is the list of teams and their prorata allotments:

Team	M.	P.	A.
Hickory	20	18	$12.60

Stonewall	12	18	7.66

Although the record of achievement of the Tiger basketball quintet will not bear the fast march of other victorious teams in the state, much can be said of the development of the team during the past season, which promises to show an important note in the intercollegiate cager struggles of the future.

Although fallen under the heel of many other teams in the state, the Tiger quintet dodged no issue and met their obligations in a manner threatening to any opponent.

The Tiger crew met the best in the state and fared well in their part of the encounter. Weatherford, Phillips and Durant, strong teams of the conference have tasted the fight put up by the Tiger clansmen.

A new record was established at End when the Tigers and the Phillips university teams fought five extra periods before the Phillips quintet finally gained the extra point, and were acclaimed victors.

The Durant Savages also ran into a neat surprise here when the Tigers held the invaders to a close score after leading them for the first period of the game. Durant claimed one of the best teams in the state.

Personnel of Team

Owing to the material with which the Coaches were confronted at the beginning of the season, East Central State Teachers College Basketball Team was not so successful according to percentage of games won and lost as was our Football team or our baseball team the past season.

With the material at the end of the season having one year of experience and all college men it looks like the future will be much brighter. The personnel of the team will be practically unchanged for another year. With Miller, a stellar forward and one year college experience, it is the census of the sport fans that he will develop into one of the best forwards of the state. As running mate he has Jobe, a local boy of one year experience who is fast and aggressive and has a good eye for the basket.

At center the coaches will have a choice between Newton and Kelby. Newton being 6 feet and weighing 155 pounds. He has two years college experience. Kelly weighs 155 pounds and his height is 5 foot and 11 inches. He is fast and aggressive, active in the goal, has speed to burn. It looks as though he would have one of the best centers in the state another year.

College coaches over the state have remarked on the wonderful playing of Earl Johnson, who is also a local boy, a man of no mean ability, and perhaps the most aggressive player on the future squad. His height is 5 feet 10 inches, and he weighs 155 pounds. In Johnson, the coach of any basketball team would find a college player, capable of making any college team, and a real asset.

Evans Dependable Guard

Don Evans, this year's captain, the bulwark of our defense, weighs 142 pounds, is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and a real leader. He is considered by several of the college coaches as the best defensive guard in the state.

In Ott Harrison we have a man of three years playing ability, who is fast and aggressive, has a good knowledge of the game. He is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, and weighs 145 pounds. Harrison is a real defensive guard and an asset to any college team.

Waner is Star

Height 5 feet, 9 inches. Weight 155 pounds.

Waner won fame in College sports through his baseball ability. He developed to be a very fast forward and a regular on the college squad. The team was seriously handicapped by his leaving in the middle of the season for baseball practice. The team mates remember Waner as a true sport, a hard fighter, a clean competitor, and a loyal East Centralite.

Waner will never be eligible for College Athletics again, he will be a real asset for any position he would choose to play.

ATHLETIC CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

Business Men Urged to Attend Meeting of Club Here Sunday

The tired business man can vouch that racing around a mile track, skidding over a muddy field with a pigskin under one arm or sweating under a torrid sky in a baseball suit is little compared to the manly art of getting young again at a reclining age.

The Ada Athletic club, under the rule of Jack Edwards, of former fighting-ring fame, has demonstrated this fact with the members of the newly organized club.

Business men have found this institution a desirable place to work over some surplus flesh as well as keeping in fit for the routine of life.

The clubrooms afford a few of the modern gymnasium accommodations at the present but plans are under way for installation of latest gymnasium equipment, where the most appropriate of baths and rub-downs may be obtained after the evening sport.

Edwards with a corps of assistants will adopt modern plans of working over members of the club and every article of manual training will be used from boxing gloves to dumb bells.

Further plans in making the institution one of value to the community were taken up Thursday night at a meeting of business men and interested parties.

A similar meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at the American Legion Hall and all parties interested are urged to attend.

TIGERS ROMP IN BASEBALL SUITS

Favoritism in Sport Fought By Athletic Director of Local College

Sportdom Awaits Appearance Of Tigers on Diamond for State Honors

A line of athletic endeavor that will permit a student to follow his favorite or most adapted sport, is the aim of the member of the East Central College, M. Z. Thompson said.

This feature of varied sport activity is one not offered by any other school in the Oklahoma College conference, according to Thompson.

The aspirant for Tiger honors has a wide field in which to cast his lot and the scrutiny on one line of athletic endeavor is not tolerated at the East Central College. Football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track are all included and given equal right-of-way on the East Central sport calendar.

Several schools of the Oklahoma College conference turn their big guns on football and expend their appropriations in making football honors nestle close to the school alma mater. Others spend their best effort on baseball and basketball and others go in strong for track.

Thompson points out that the high school graduate seeking a school where all phases of athletics are given attention for the sake of building up the physical personnel of the school and not a reputation in one certain athletic event, could find no College in the state a more conservative sport calendar is offered.

Thompson indicates that while the Tiger athletics have not forsaken their general sport calendar for one certain line, they have made their presence felt in sport events in the state.

ARDMORE—The county agent figures that 30,000 acres will be planted in cotton in Carter county this year.

Run your own race. Don't let anyone get too far ahead of you near the last quarter of a half-mile, mile or two-mile—it's hard to catch up.

Get a rub-down after each event. It helps to relieve fatigue.

Don't cut in ahead of a man until you are fully two paces in the lead.

Speed is essential in weight events.

Sprinters and hurdlers should practice fast work. Leave the long runs for distance men.

The best way to learn to run is by running.

Breathe through the mouth and nose, particularly in the severe tests as in distance events, where you need all the air you can get.

Dress warmly when the weather is cold. It is foolish to stand around or run distances in scant track attire, as strains and chills often result.

When the football heroes turn over their suits and the pigskin is stored away for the year and the basketball is thrown for its last effort at the basket, Tiger sportdom lets out its mighty yell and welcomes the event of baseball on the College campus.

When the diamond dust is scattered over the state can lay claim to the right-of-way of the East Central Tiger baseball nine, last year's champions.

Early last week found the athletic field at the College sprinkled with aspirants for some position on one of the angles of the College diamond. Coach Miller held the aspirants to a light workout during the week in preparation to a period of intensive training prior to the first Collegiate game held March 19 with the Murray Aggies.

Tiger coaches see no other result than victory in the year's schedule. Practically all the old hands of the last season are back in uniform and many new youngsters are bidding for positions on the diamond. The old Tiger infield is practically intact this year with a strong bid for an air-tight outfield. Several prospective hurlers have reported to fill the pitching staff.

The Tigers severe loss of the season will be in Waner, who recently reported to the San Francisco Seals to make his debut in professional baseball. Waner proved the sensation of the past season in his performances in the box, in the field and at bat. Waner will be missed on the Tiger line-up.

Following is the Tiger schedule for the year:

March 29 and 30 at Ada. Tigers vs. Murray Aggies.

April 4 and 5 at Edmond. Tigers vs. Central Teachers College.

April 10 and 11 at Chillicothe. Tigers vs. Chillicothe Indian Academy.

April 12 and 13 at Stillwater. Tigers vs. A. & M.

April 14 at Ada. Tigers vs. Arkansas.

April 18 and 19 at Ada. Tigers vs. Central Teachers College.

April 26 and 27 at Shawnee. Tigers vs. O. B. U.

May 3 and 4 at Wilburton. Tigers vs. Oklahoma School of Mines.

May 10 and 11 at Ada. Tigers vs. O. B. U.

CONTRACT FOR BASEBALL PARK TO BE LET HERE

Ada baseball fans will have one of the most up-to-date parks in the state for the coming baseball season, according to the announcement of A. O. Green, manager of the Ada club.

All plans are now complete for the building of the park on West Main street and the contract drawn up to await preliminary details before the construction is started.

Plans for raising the funds for the building of the park will be the problems for local fans, although the park has been assured by contracts with private interests.

The park will be modern in every detail. It will be built on a concrete foundation with ten rows of seats in the grand stand not inclusive of the rows of box seats. Dressing rooms with showers will be built for the accommodations of two teams. Ladies rest rooms will be included.

The park will be built to regulation size and promises to be the meeting place of athletic events of any nature for years to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Black have disposed of their interest in the A. P. Brown and Company store at this place and will take charge of two large stores in North Carolina. Tom Swinford or Webster has taken charge of the store here.

Mr. and Mrs. Black have made many friends since coming to Ada. Their new stores are in Winston-Salem and High Point, North Carolina, cities of the leading manufacturing of the Southwest. They will take with them the western ways of doing things and ought to make a success in the Old North State.

Mr. Swinford comes to Ada with a record of achievement behind him. He is said to be a booster and a live man on all matters for civic development.

PAULS VALLEY—The Presbyterians have let the contract for a new church building. It will cost $60,000.

SCOUTS HERE FOR BASKETBALL MEET

Teams From Francis, Oakman, Fitzhugh and Stonewall Here for Meet

Stonewall, Francis, Fitzhugh and Oakman had teams in the basketball tournament here Saturday. Francis brought two teams and so did Stonewall. All of the "A" class games were played at the Armory and were refereed by Mr. George Morrison, who gave universal satisfaction.

The "B" class teams played at the High School and were refereed by Paul Rayburn, who did very high school here feeling indeed.

The team which really sprang the greatest surprise as to team work and as to spirit was the team of scouts from Oakman who played in the B class. However, the teams from Troop Nos. 4 and 5 in each class had by far the fastest and most skillful players. There was no rough or unsportsmanlike playing by any of the scouts. Francis A class team consisting of Willie Payne, Leonard Henson, Orville Edwards, Clifton Burns, Cecil Foster, Everett Agge played a hard and fast game against Troops 4 and 5, but the latter was too much for them. Troop 4 and 5 team had as its players, Harvey and Bennie Shipman, Herman Floyd, Clifford Elliot and Simon Killcrease. The B class team of this same troop had Carl Coleman, Guy Sadler, Claude Tichenor, Ray Young, N. T. Heard, Jr., as players and each one played their places well. Glenwood Troop played hard and fast and won second in the B class, so did Troop 7 in the A class who played in the finals.

Nearly all of the games were close and at times very exciting. The first Boy Scout Basketball Tournament was considered a great success by scout officials. The winners in each class were the teams of troop 5 and 5 of which Mr. Roy Meeks is scoutmaster and Clifton Parker is coach.

CUNNINGHAM TO TAKE FRANCIS GIRLS TO MEET

Coach Cunningham of the Francis high school plans to take his girls team, which swept the district tournament here last week, to Norman the coming week for the state girls basketball tournament. He expresses confidence that his girls can come off winners of the tournament and mentioned Guthrie as the only team he considered dangerous contenders.

Oakman and Pickett girls met at the armory in Ada Friday night for a game of basketball. Near the end of the first half, with the score 10 to 7 in favor of Oakman, Mildred Stephens of the Oakman team was badly hurt and the game called off. She was taken to the home of her father, Clay Stephens, and was reported getting along very well Saturday.

Oil News

The week in the Pontotoc County fields showed few new developments. The new well at Bebee in section 32-5-5, operated by the Carter-Lowrey syndicate, was cleaned out and put on the pump Saturday. Something was not working just right, however, and a definite statement what the well will do cannot be given at this time. The difficulty was overcome late Saturday afternoon, it was reported, and the amount of production should be available by Monday or Tuesday.

This hole was standing 1500 feet in oil, according to what are considered reliable reports, which would indicate it will be very profitable.

The old Nance well, now owned by the Empire Gas & Fuel company in section 4-4-7, was put on the pump again during the week. In three days it put approximately 145 barrels of oil in the tank. This is considered good production for a well two years old. The oil is 28 gravity, which would bring a premium where it placed on the market.

The discovery well in section 32-5-5 has been cleaned out and is good for around 25 barrels a day. If the new well proves up as well as all are expecting, this will give three good producers in the Bebee field, and there is a strong probability of some refinery tapping the field within a short time.

The American Oil and Refining Company is still drilling on the well just north of the city in section 16-4-6. This hole is now 2250 feet deep. The progress is being watched closely by geologists and scouts, and a good strike would mean great activity.

Arrangements are said to be about complete for another well in the Francis field, this being in section 19-5-7. Completion of all primaries is expected to be completed by Monday.

Carnegie Museum Director Claims People Interested Discoveries in Old Egypt

(By the Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Douglas Stewart, director of the Museum of the Carnegie Institute, reports the liveliest interest in the part of the public in the life of ancient Egypt. The discoveries in the tomb of Tutankhamun at Luxor have, he says, made the history of 35 centuries ago present day news. Public curiosity has been aroused in a civilization of which most people had never heard, and the visitors are fascinated by the physical monuments of a long gone race.

The largest exhibit in the museum is the remains of a Nile boat of an admiral, buried with him according to the custom of interring the tools of trade with the dead. There is not a nail in this boat. It is fastened together by wooden pins dovetailed into the timbers, and by thongs. It dates from 1400 B. C., 500 years before Tutankhamun's time, or 600 years before Abraham went to Ur of the Chaldees.

Even older is one of several gold pots, made about 5000 B. C., which were used to contain eye-drops. The pots are covered with a very thin layer of pure gold, similar to the gold found in Tutankhamun's tomb by Lord Carnarvon.

Bronze mirrors appropriately find a place beside the eye paint pots. Nearly a razor of the eighteenth dynasty is seen to be of precisely the same model as the old style razor of today, working on a swivel handle, and proving that barbers shaved their customers 3500 years ago just as they do today. A group of fishhooks of 1580 B. C. constitutes another exhibit, where the design has not changed in 35 centuries.

The exhibits of ancient Egyptian pottery show that the shapes in use in the Egypt of today are exactly those used in Tutankhamun's time. The water pots have the same pointed bottom, necessary to press into the sand to keep them upright.

The exhibits in the Carnegie Museum are mostly from Thebes, Egypt, the capital of Pharaoh Amarna, which he built when his refusal to worship other gods than the sun god led him to leave Memphis. Thebes-Amarna was abandoned on his death and the return of his successor to the ancient worship at Memphis. The site, which is 15 miles south of Cairo, was excavated by the Germans before the war and since then by the Egyptian government, to which the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh has contributed.

Among a mammoth lot of a number of mummy cases, and several pieces of decorative art in which the designs and colors are as perfect today as when they were first painted, the exhibit has many other objects, several scarabs, and with an inscription from the book of the Dead, and many smaller antiquities of the different dynasties.

Director Stewart has added to the collection on display a copy of a beautiful necklace of the Princess Khnoum, which will be of value to designers of jewelry by affording them a true type of ancient Egyptian art, now being sought by modern fashion designers.

Besides the interest of the adult population, the public school children of the eighth grade are attending lectures by museum assistants, who find that the children are keenly interested in the parables as they usually are in the exhibits of the American Indians.

Sunday Schools of State Represented at Okmulgee Meet

(By the Associated Press)

OKMULGEE, March 8.—The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Oklahoma Sunday School association will be held here Saturday, Sunday and Monday, according to local officials in charge of preparations for the gathering. The three-day series of meetings and conferences are expected to bring together about 1,000 state Sunday school workers, and will also be attended by officials of the national association.

Rev. Marion Lawrence of Chicago, a leader in the organization of the national association, will speak each day of the convention. Bishop E. L. Walden of Wichita, Kansas, will deliver an address on "Upper Room," at the opening session Saturday morning, according to the program.

Prof. Darryl L. Cook of Fort Worth, Texas, head of the department of religious education at Texas Christian university, and a member of the board of trustees of the Sunday School council, will also speak each day.

Walter C. Moore of Kansas City, Missouri, superintendent of the Young Peoples' division of the Kansas City Sunday School association, will lecture on the handling and leadership of young people.

Miss Mabel L. Bailey of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, will have charge of the division of children's department workers at the convention. She is instructor in the training school maintained at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, and superintendent of children's work in that state.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—The livestock industry in Oklahoma is valued at approximately $104,000,000, according to John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. The state ranks sixteenth in the United States in value of livestock, he said.

Indian Chief is Pleased in Talk With Gov. Walton

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9.—Chief William Faw-Faw of the Otoe Indians has adopted Gov. J. C. Walton as his "Big Brother," he announced to the chief executive when he called at the state capital with a band of his tribesmen.

The announcement followed the governor's assurance that he would take steps to secure for the tribe after the expiration of its treaty with the U. S. Government next year, the benefits it has enjoyed under the treaty, including freedom from taxation.

Chief Faw-Faw explained to the governor that "Indian, he no understand taxes. He no like pay, pay all time."

Under the Indian treaties, of which the Otoe agreement was a pattern, tribal affairs were largely left in the hands of the federal government, and the Indians have led lives free from many worries, as wards of the United States. An interpreter explained to the governor that the Otoe fear their lack of experience in managing their affairs should the government's guiding hand be withdrawn. They requested that the legislature memorialize congress on the subject, but the governor suggested he would write to Oklahoma representatives at Washington to discuss the treaty with the Indian commissioner.

Mussolini Urges Former Veterans to Help Country

ROME.—The Fascist government needs 200,000 muskets to keep all the rascals in their places," said Premier Mussolini to a delegation of the Italian Arditi, or "Daredevils," as they are sometimes called, in a recent address.

"I am counting on all the ex-service men, and therefore on the Arditi, who have been our best fighters," continued the Premier.

"I am sure almost all of you will join the voluntary militia. We need the regular army to be prepared for the defense of the nation, for this is its purpose, we need the police force in order to protect ourselves against lawbreakers. The Fascist government also has need of 200,000 muskets to keep all the rascals in their places."

"I hope, therefore," continued the Fascist chief, "to see you in the front rank of the Fascist legion, which are a magnificent reserve of courage, of power and of faith, and on which not only the government but the whole nation can surely count. I thank you, and beg you to consider me, as head of the government a daredevil who does not stop before any obstacle, and overcomes all obstacles if it be necessary and required by the supreme interests of the nation."

Exports Showing Slight Decrease in Shanghai Now

SHANGHAI.—Exports from Shanghai to the United States in 1922 were less by a few dollars than in 1921, according to the annual report of the American Consulate at Shanghai just issued.

Total exports last year, says this report, ran in value to Gold $57,482,753 in comparison with Gold $57,642,954 in 1921. Exports from Shanghai to the United States and to all American possessions ran to a total of Gold $59,090,000 in both 1921 and 1922.

Raw silk continued last year to be the biggest item of the list of exports, the value of last year's shipments running to gold $21,000,000 in comparison of gold $20,000,000 the preceding year. In the past year a marked decrease in gold shipments was recorded as the figure for 1922 was gold $10,737,000 while in 1921 it was gold $17,000,000.

WAR ON WEEVIL IS STATE PLAN

Instructors to Cover State in Series of Talks on Weevil Fight.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10.—A state-wide anti-bell weevil campaign is under way this week and will continue through the month, with special instructors visiting all towns and cities in the cotton belt of Oklahoma on scheduled speaking tours, according to John A. Whitcomb, president of the state board of agriculture.

According to Whitcomb, all agricultural agencies of the state and nation are united in the campaign. The state board of agriculture and mechanical college, and the federal department of agriculture are taking the lead, he said. The speakers having been drawn from all three sources.

The drive opened at Muskogee, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Tulsa and Shawnee simultaneously. Separate groups of speakers visited each of these places and held meetings at which the necessity of fighting the boll weevil was pointed out, and planters instructed in the successful growing of cotton under boll weevil conditions.

For the campaign the state has been divided into five sections, and speakers assigned to each, said the board president. The first district comprises Muskogee, Haskell, LeFlore, Sequoyah, Wagoner and Oklahoma counties, and meetings in that group will end Saturday at Okmulgee. The speakers were to be E. E. Schroll, A. B. Houston and C. L. Stanley.

The second group consists of Pottawatomie, Seminole, Hughes, Okfuskee, McIntosh, Pottawatomie, Latimer, Atoka, Coal and Pontotoc counties. The speakers assigned were J. A. Evans of Washington, T. A. Milstead, J. N. Rouse, R. W. Vaughn and Dean M. A. Eason, of A. and M. College. Meetings were to be held at Shawnee, Muskogee, Holdenville, McAlester, Okmulgee, Muskogee, McAlester, Wilburton, Atoka, Coalgate and Ada, in succession.

The third district meetings were to be at the following points: Pauls Valley in Garvin county, Ardmore, Carter county, Marietta, Johnson county, Madill, Marshall county, Durant, Bryan county, Idabel, McCurtain county, Hugo, Choctaw county, Antlers, Poshmataha county. Speakers assigned were C. W. Callerman, G. C. Gibbons and R. C. Lennedy.

Okla. City, for Oklahoma county, Purcell, for McClain and Cleveland counties, Chickasha, for Grady county, Duncan, for Stephens county and Waurika, for Jefferson county were meeting points for the fourth district, in which speakers assigned were E. A. Miller and W. R. Shelton.

The campaign is scheduled to begin March 20 in the fifth district, and speakers will be E. E. Schroll, B. F. Markland and C. L. Stanley. It was announced. The meetings are scheduled as follows: Pottawatomie county, March 20; Chandler, Lincoln county, March 21; Guthrie, Logan county, March 22; Ripley, Payne county, March 23.

Germany Learning That Saving Mark is Losing Bargain

(By the Associated Press)

HAMBURG.—Germans have slowly learned that it is unwise to save marks while they are falling so rapidly in value. Even servants earning very small wages have adopted the plan of converting their money immediately into something which has real value. Such persons seldom have enough to buy foreign money, so they acquire articles which will always be in demand. Furthermore, they usually have these purchases made in some small town, where prices are lower than in the great centers, which know more about international exchange operations.

The cook in one American family in Hamburg recently told her mistress she was investing her earnings in furniture, which she had ordered a cabinet-maker in her native village to manufacture. She had bought the wood at a bargain, and the man was doing the work very cheaply in his spare time.

While the cook was not betrothed, and did not know that she would marry, she explained to her mistress that her chances will be much brighter when it became known that she could furnish a home attractively.

NORTHLAND WILL SOON BECOME FILMLAND; PRODUCERS NOW SEEKING LIKELY LOCATIONS

STONY INDIANS LIVING NEAR BANFF, ARRIVED IN TRIBAL FINERY.

Movie audiences have set their seal of approval upon Canadian-made films; the romance of the Northland has gripped public fancy, and a film that depicts the beauty, the romance or a tragedy of the north is sure to show to packed houses. But audiences insist that the films shall be Canadian-made as well as Canadian-laid. The 1923 audience is a wise one and can detect a faked locale in short order.

Movie producers know that they must please their public and so they are busy reading script of Canadian photo plays and looking for suitable locations. In these quests they meet with strange revelations that upset common beliefs; for instance, when "Strongheart" was filmed in Canada, the producers had to import wolves, there being none available in the wilds where the play was filmed. Again, the popular fallacy that Indians are savages, is given the lie by the well educated Redskins who live like their white neighbors, although they can be persuaded to load themselves and their tribal accoutrements to the making of movies.

The B. P. O. E. of Banff recently entertained the members of the Trimble-Murfin Production Company, which is spending several months at Banff making a Canadian Rockies screen play.

Several eastern producers have movie outfits on location at various winter sport centers in Canada, such as Montreal, Quebec and St. Jovite. They also make it a point to chronicle with their cameras all the skating, hockey, ski-jumping and dog derby events. These play an important part in weekly tropical reviews, being of educational as well as entertaining value.

The initial scenes of "A High Seas Honeymoon" were shot in the S. S. Empress of Australia as she sailed from Vancouver on January 19th, additional scenes to be made en voyage. A number of scenes were made in Vancouver, embracing Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver Hotel and Stanley Park; other scenes will be filmed at Yokohama and Hong Kong. Director Henry McCrea, who is making this film, is very enthusiastic about Canada's future in the moving picture world. Upon his return he is planning to make a photo-play production of "Policing the Plains," by R. G. MacBeth.

Cosmopolitan Productions of New York is now located in Windermere Valley, B. C., between the Beaverfoot and Purcell Ranges of the Canadian Rockies, where they are producing Arthur Stringer's "Snow Blind." Part of the movie story by Irvin Cobb, entitled "One Third Off," will be filmed in Quebec City.

The first step was instruction in English. Later Swedish was supplemented with simple courses of study in grammar, arithmetic and government.

Tut and Legislature

Disturbers of the dead, should turn their eyes to Oklahoma City and view the antics of our wise men of the last lap of our spree.

Curio seekers, who aroused the olive oil incense in old Tut's tomb, could find relief of antiquity buried daily in the records of the legislature.

But events, occurring recently will present immediate explorations by relic seekers for there is the taxation problem—people will have no cause for explorations on that subject although it is somewhat of a buried proposition.

Proponents of the Legion bonus are strong for immediate evacuation on their compensation measure. It is sinking lower into oblivion than one of Tut's wives.

And there is the woman of the thing. They have started out now to rule and the poor male has only time to play before finally stepping down and out. In the mysterious future, the dusty records of the present will be unearthed and female legislators will search for the discussion on the Darwin theory, that being one of the most important matters in that ink-well period of Oklahoma history.

The one outstanding thing about an operetta (see Webster) is that one is obliged to remain through the entire presentation to determine its exact worth.

Another feature is that an audience very seldom understands the physical and mental strain prevalent on the stage as well.

In a recent operetta (musical comedy), depicting scenes on a south sea isle, the hero pushed out of a cave to find the heroine seated on a hand embroidered pillow on a bench manufactured at Evansville, Indiana, and then the father rushed out from behind a clump of weeds and tried to show parental wrath in sixteen-year-old attire. The climax was reached when a crew of Uncle Sam's brave sailors rushed out after being painted like Apaches and tried to find eight frail pirates hiding behind three flour sacks filled with straw.

It has been rumored that the heroine also sang, but patrons farther back than the tenth row will not vouch for this. The orchestra has affirmed this report however and maintains that another song was rendered from the secret folds of the cave and not the roof of the theatre.

Some have been prone to admit that the private chief has said on the "phantom ship" and there lost his locker box, used for the purpose of carrying tunes.

THE OLD STORY

What you don't know won't hurt you.

I am inclined to differ with you. Take the most common things we have today, an automobile for instance, there are thousands lying idle. Why? They were not properly lubricated, is the right answer. Any motor should last 10 years, as a rule 90 per cent of them are knocking by the second or third year. Why? Not properly lubricated.

I am making a study of lubrication of your motor and more mileage on your gas which enables me to take care of your motor by giving you the proper oil, free from carbon and gum.
